TOP LIGHT'S BOLD FENCING.

A CANTER FOR DULEEK.

From Our Travelling Correspondent.

LONDON, Friday Night.

Grand National candidates of greater and lesser importance will be jumping fences to-morrow in both the Prince of Wales's Steeplechase at Sandown Park and the Grand Allies' Steeplechase at Manchester. In the former event we shall see Music Hall, White Surrey, Ruddyglow, Winnall, Taffytus, Mainsail and Peter the Piper, while at Manchester the only National candidate likely to oppose the Irish horse, Ballymacrory, will be Rousham, a moderate animal. The more interest will centre in the Sandown event, which should be really interesting. Taffytus won it last year, it being his only victory in several seasons, but the opposition was not quite so formidable then as it will be to-morrow. I do not think Music Hall is out of it, for he ran a couple of good races in November. Winnall is a very disappointing horse, but I suppose he has some sort of a chance, for Percy Woodland still strongly fancies his chance for the Grand National; White Surrey may be too slow in this company. My preference is for Mr. Filmer Sankey's Ruddyglow, who was going extremely well when brought down by Royal Chancellor in the race won by Ballinode at Nottingham last Tuesday. Next to him I like Music Hall and Taffytus.

BEN CRUCHAN'S RETURN TO FORM.

A wet morning in London seemed to presage poor weather at Sandown, but it cleared before noon, and the racing was carried through in pleasant weather. There was an interesting race for the Stanley Cup for amateurs, which Mr. W. H. Whitbread won on Ben Cruchan, whom he bought when Mr. F. Barbour offered him at the Newmarket sales. This young amateur rode a very well-judged race on him, too, keeping him nicely in hand until he was between the last two fences, when he sent him to the front, and resisting the challenge of Clifford Hall and Libretto, beat them by a length and a half, and a length, respectively. As Ben Cruchan was giving only a few pound to Libretto, it will be perceived that he was an excellent 5 to 2 chance. Mr. Whitbread is a wealthy enthusiast, and he did not mind in trying the horse that the animal was high in the handicap, for he cannot get down to a light weight. Ben Cruchan's appearance in the paddock reflected great credit on his trainer, Sam Bennet, and having survived that rather unfortunate season with Coulthwaite, he seems to have come back to his good Irish form.

Mr. Hastings won the Mole Handicap Steeplechase with the good-looking grey 'chaser, Top Light, who is a grand bold fencer. Jack Anthony rode one of his waiting races, and kept a tight hold on him until they were two fences from home, when he began to move up. He challenged Progress on the flat, and beat him in a very nice race by a length. St. Bernard, the favourite, ran sourly, and in the last mile seemed as if he would not trouble to drag his hind legs over his fences. He finished last of the four runners.

After Hogan had won the Prince of Wales's Hurdle on Border Ranger, by eight lengths, from Dowser, Speck, the rider of the second, lodged an objection for bumping and crossing two hurdles from home. Border Ranger had twice tried to run out, and on the second occasion had interfered with Dowser; but as an objection for interference at such a point can only be lodged on the ground of foul riding, and as there was no question of that, the Stewards very quickly over-ruled it, and rightly estreated Speck's £5 deposit. Border Ranger showed great improvement on his Lingfield form, but he was better suited by this course, and he beat the others pointless. Argo and Detritus, who were joint favourites, could not act at all in the going. The former finished fourth and the latter last.

A GOOD TWO-YEAR-OLD.

Zarope was an interesting runner in Lady Curzon's colours for the Metropolitan Hurdle, but he dropped out after being prominent for half the distance. Paddy, a really good two-year-old, made the running for a mile, but after a mistake at a hurdle he dropped out. He came again, however, to finish third. Palomides, who was always going like a winner, scored an easy victory for Frank Hartigan's stable from Twenty-first. Head Master, a good favourite for the Experimental Steeplechase, was in the lead when a bad blunder at the pay-gate fence destroyed his chance. St. Endas then went on to beat Ned Carver easily.

Fly Mask will have made new friends for his Grand National chance by his easy victory at Manchester in the Medlock Steeplechase, where he seems to have jumped perfectly all the way through. Joe Canty gained an easy victory on the Irish horse, Duleek, who, in the County Hurdle, beat Royal Orb in a canter. Duleek would seem to have come on a good deal since he ran inconspicuously at Newbury last month behind Royal Archer. He was backed down to 11 to 4 here. I have already suggested that Ruddyglow has the best chance in the Prince of Wales Steeplechase at Sandown to-morrow. Ireland's Hope, Lord Derby's recent Irish purchase, will be making his first appearance in England in the Epsom Steeplechase, and will be opposed by another promising expatriated Irish horse, in Tullylost, who will also be making his first appearance in England over a country. Neither, however, may beat HACKDENE, who has shown fair form recently. HEAH, who is trained by F. Hartigan, may win the February Four-Year-Old Hurdle.

The racing to-morrow at Manchester will be very interesting, and a number of Irish-trained candidates will be in the field in several races. Clonsheever and Ballymacrory, in the Grand Allies' Steeplechase; Golden Street, in the Stockport Steeplechase, and Limber Dancer, in the Brackley Hurdle, being the principal ones. I have no idea of the value of Ballymacrory's second at Leopardstown last Saturday, or of the well-being of Clonsheever. The latter seems handicapped up to the hilt, and has to give a lot of weight away to useful horses. Whitaker runs Keep Cool and Ballinvalley, and the latter was going well until he fell two fences from home in the Victory Steeplechase. VIVI has been sent in preference to Forewarned and Super Man, and this nice looking brother to Silvo may win what appears to be an open race. Clonsheever, if on his best form, will, however, be hard to beat. FARIRAY should beat Darragh in the Club Hurdle, and, as the opposition to GOLDEN STREET does not look formidable, he may win.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

The fields at Manchester will be large to-day, on the whole, and for the most part the races seem to be uncommonly open. I am not anticipating that the opposition for the Grand Allies' Steeplechase will be nearly as extensive as was the case last February, when Vaulx won from Trentino (gave 10lb.), Forewarned (gave 19lb.), and fifteen others. Trentino is now to receive 2lb. from Vaulx, a tremendous difference, and Forewarned concedes Vaulx 5lb. However, Forewarned gives place to Vive, a recent winner from Winnall and Drinmond. Vive will not be easily disposed of, and Keep Cool, who has on several occasions won or run well here, will take his own part. Of course, there is danger from the Irish pair, of whom I expect Ballymacrory to do well. Keep Cool or Vive may win.

Selections:—

Club Hurdle—Fariray; if absent, Darragh.
Stockport Steeplechase—Harry Hart.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

The principal race to-day, the Prince of Wales's Steeplechase, appears likely to attract nine runners to the starting post, the possible absentees being Ben Cruchan and Peter the Piper, the first-named being superseded by his stable companion, Dwarf of the Forest. Peter the Piper, it is understood, is undergoing a special preparation for the National Hunt Steeplechase at Cheltenham, but he may run here. Music Hall is likely to put up a good show, as will Ruddyglow, who was brought down by Royal Chancellor at Nottingham and may make amends. Ammonal was beaten yesterday. Potheen is nicely placed in the handicap, as is Winnall, and, through Ammonal, the latter should beat Mainsail. Whatever beats Winnall may win.

Selections:—

Village Hurdle—Barrackton Lad.
Ripley Steeplechase—Fleecy Wave or Golden Fleece.

Prince of Wales's Steeplechase—Winnall.

TO-DAY'S MATCHES.

WALES V. SCOTLAND.

The meeting of Wales and Scotland at Swansea to-day will advance the International Championship a further stage and throw fresh light on this interesting problem. Not for many years has the championship appeared such an open question, and a peculiar feature of it is that none of the countries seems satisfied with the play of their teams so far. Scotland's only match was against France, and this they won in easy style, thanks to the brilliant play of the Oxford three-quarter line, but Scottish critics were not at all satisfied with the play of the team. Likewise the English team's play, when beating Wales, was not satisfactory, which is in a way a reflection on the Welsh side, and anyone who saw Ireland's game with France could not be encouraged about Ireland's chance of becoming champion country. So far as form goes in these games, there is little to be learned; but on the respective showings of Ireland and England against New Zealand, there is the suggestion that the game at Twickenham next Saturday will be a great tussle and may possibly be the determining match of the series. Scotland, because of the fact that she is represented by a young side, has to be reckoned with, and a win against Wales to-day at Swansea must necessarily give England and Ireland cause for reflection. We saw enough of the Oxford three-quarter line at Lansdowne road to know that, if the Scottish forwards give the necessary opportunities, the teams representing the other countries will be kept busy defending their lines. The result of to-day's match should give a fair idea as to whether Scotland will challenge England's and Ireland's fight for the championship title.

Of the five matches to be played in Dublin, the Bective v. University College game at Terenure should provide a very interesting struggle. Dublin University are turning out a strong side against Wanderers for the match in the College Park, and on form should win. Monkstown will be visited by North at Sydney Parade. Lansdowne, whose forwards have been showing good form of late, should have a close game with Blackrock College at Lansdowne road. The other senior fixture is between Old Wesley and Clontarf at Donnybrook.

THE WARD UNION

From Our Correspondent.

Wednesday, at Dunboyne, proved a disappointing day generally, for, although the weather was fine and bright, scent was of such a hopeless character that hounds could never hunt with any consistency, a fact which the quarry took full advantage of. After enlarging in Mr. Wallis's stud farm at Vesington, the chase started in the Wainstown direction, before bearing to the left and reaching the Hatchet road. Here the stag zig-zagged in and out of the road to the cross at Ballymaglasson, where, after heading in the Hatchet direction, apparently turned back in his tracks, as the pack were at fault on the Hatchet road for some time. Being held back parallel with the road, they eventually hit off his line in Ballymaglasson, and hunted away slowly over the Batterstown road to Roanstown fox covert, and bore to the left by Cookstown, back to the scene of enlargement at Vesington. Here the stag had soiled in the local river by the bridge, and, although he had been seen by a number of spectators to turn up-stream, the elusiveness of a hunted deer was again demonstrated, the pack being completely baffled. Eventually they routed him from concealment in a branch of the stream at the back of Wainstown, and, pressing him away in view, the sport of the day, from a riding point of view, commenced. Running hard, they left Vesington to the right, and [illegible] During Mr. Levins Moore's temporary absence, it is requested that correspondence relative to the Hunt should be addressed to Mr. Mark Leonard, St. Kevins, Dartry road, Dublin.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT BILL.

REFERENDUM ON CONTINUANCE OF RULE BY COMMISSIONERS.

PROPOSAL REJECTED BY SENATE.

The Free State Senate yesterday completed the Committee stage of the Local Government Bill, and then adjourned until the 18th inst.

No important change was made in the measure as a result of yesterday's discussions. The advantages of having paid Commissioners, instead of popularly-elected bodies to administer the affairs of a district, were debated at length.

Mr. Barrington proposed an amendment to the effect that when Commissioners have been in charge of a district for three years, the Minister should order a referendum of the people to see whether they would prefer a continuance of the Commissioners' administration or the election of a council. The amendment was defeated.

REFERENDUM.

CHOICE BETWEEN ELECTION AND COMMISSIONERS.

When Sub-section 5 of Section 62 was under discussion, Mr. Barrington moved an amendment to the effect that not later than three years after the dissolution of a local authority a referendum should be taken to decide whether the people would prefer a continuance of the administration of the district by Commissioners or the election of a local body.

It was, he said, possible that a case might arise where people would prefer to have the administration carried on by Commissioners who had worked with economy and efficiency instead of having the local councils re-elected. That, he thought, was a matter that should be submitted to the ratepayers by means of a referendum.

As an example he mentioned the case of a local authority in Cork, against the dissolution of which other local bodies had protested. Commissioners were appointed, and by their satisfactory administration effected a great reduction in the rates. Votes of thanks were passed to the Commissioners by various local bodies, and at the end of three years the old Local Government Board was asked to continue the Commissioners, but had no power to do so. In the present bill the Minister for Local Government could not continue the Commissioners, no matter how well they had done their work. His proposal meant that the ratepayers should be the best judges of what was good for themselves. He was not proposing to put anybody over them.

Mr. Kenny supported the amendment.

Mr. Bennett suggested that the referendum should be held at the end of two years instead of three years.

THE COST.

Mr. Douglas said that the amendment did not say whether the result of the referendum should hold good for all time or for a year. Who was to pay for it? There were many people who thought that it might be more satisfactory to maintain representation so far as the main principle was concerned, but not to attempt to work the whole administration in an area by local boards. The local body might exercise a veto, though Commissioners might do portion of their work.

Mr. Haughton said that he opposed the amendment on the ground of expense, and also because of the results that might follow. He believed that they should aim at adjustments whereby property holders should have a higher franchise.

Mr. J. T. O'Farrell said that he would be prepared to support the amendment if the referendum were taken at the proper time. Surely it was a unique proposal that the Minister should, without consulting the people, extinguish the local bodies, and then at the end of three years say they could decide to have them back again. If the people were sufficiently competent or intelligent to decide the matter at the end of three years, they should be equally competent to decide the matter before the councils were extinguished. Too many sacrifices and struggles had been made by the people to allow the democratically elected bodies to be torn away from them.

"This tinkering with legislation," he added, "reminded one of the period leading up to the French Revolution, and the Government might bring about a similar state of things in this country if they are not a little less drastic in their methods."

Mr. James Moran said that the people would be in a better position to judge the relative merits after they had had experience of both systems.

THE TEST.

Mrs. Wyse Power said that the Commissioners, when appointed, should be allowed reasonable time to show whether they were better administrators than the local bodies. The test would be after the Commissioners had struck the rates for a couple of years.

Colonel M. Moore suggested that the matter be left over for the report stage, when some better scheme might be devised.

Mr. Linehan said that he was not inclined to support the amendment, because of the expense of holding a referendum. The decision to appoint a Commissioner ought to be left to the local body itself.

Dr. O'Sullivan said that in Kerry the experiment of appointing a Commissioner was a brilliant success. The only fault they had to find in that county was that the County Council was not dissolved soon enough.

Mr. Seumas Burke (Minister for Local Government and Public Health) said that he had a good deal of sympathy with the spirit of the amendment, but he took it that the proper time for a referendum was after the people had had experience of the two systems of local government. The appointment of Commissioners was a more or less emergency measure, necessitated by abnormal conditions of the last few years. If they were going to make the system permanent, it would be necessary to devise rules and regulations. He was anxious that the Commissioner system should not become stereotyped.

He did not like the idea of having the responsibility put upon him of holding a referendum. If a petition were sent forward by the local body, he would be in a much stronger position. Where the Commissioners had proved successful people in the locality ought to be given an opportunity of saying so. The amendment, in its present form, went too far, and he could not agree to it.

Mr. J. Douglas suggested that a provision should be inserted giving power to the new authority elected to continue Commissioners under their own control, if they thought fit.

The Chairman suggested that the point could be met by giving the Minister power, on receiving a petition from a certain number of the electors, to order a new election. That would get rid of the referendum.

Mr. T. Farren opposed the amendment, which, he said, was bad in principle. They were taking away the right of the people by dissolving the public bodies without their authority.

Mr. Barrington said that the acceptance of his amendment would make the Commissioners make even greater efforts to justify their administration by its results.

The amendment was rejected by 21 to 13.

APPROVAL OF OIREACHTAS.

Mr. O'Farrell moved that no order of dissolution of a local authority shall come into effect until it has been approved by resolution of each House of the Oireachtas. He said that no self-respecting citizen would think of becoming a member of a local authority knowing that his position as such depended entirely on the whim of "a baby Minister," because for a long time to come all their Ministers would be babies in experience.

Mr. Dowdall said that for the past few years local government in the Free State had been nothing less than a scandal. He assured Senator O'Farrell that any amendment of his, by reason of the manner and method of its presentation, always received the attention and consideration of that House.

The Minister said that Senator O'Farrell had described the Ministers as babies, while the complaint of Colonel Moore was that they were "baby Powers." (Laughter.)

The amendment was rejected.

The Senate accepted a new amendment proposed by Mr. S. L. Brown, K.C., the object of which was to secure that the expenses of joint district asylums should fall more equitably on the counties, by making each county pay in proportion to the actual number of lunatics for every previous half-year.

Mr. Dowdall moved an amendment empowering the authorities of health resorts and watering places to raise a rate of threepence in the £, instead of the old rate of one penny in the £, for advertisement purposes.

The Minister said that he was in favour of the principle of the amendment, but that it would be better to leave the matter over till the Report stage, as he was at present in consultation with the tourist traffic people about the question.

Mr. Dowdall agreed to the suggestion, and the amendment was withdrawn.

An amendment by Sir John Keane regarding reform in the presentation of Local Government accounts was accepted by the Minister.

DUBLIN ELECTIONS.

Mr. Moran moved the insertion of a section giving the Minister power to postpone the elections in Dublin City and County until after the Greater Dublin Commission has reported.

Mr. Burke, Minister for Local Government, said that he was anxious not to do anything that would prejudice the conclusions of the Greater Dublin Commission. With regard to the elections, they did not come under the provisions of that bill finally, and he was in a difficult position. It would be a very arbitrary act to postpone the elections in Dublin, and to restrict or prevent the electors there from holding elections at the ordinary time. He did not think that the holding of elections would prejudice the conclusions of the Greater Dublin Commission.

The amendment was rejected.

BOARDS OF HEALTH.

As an amendment to the first schedule, Mr. O'Farrell proposed that county boards of health should comprise nine members elected by the county council from its members, two members of every urban district council, and five other persons. The election should take place at the annual meeting of every body, and if three or more persons were to be elected, the elections should be on the principle of proportional representation.

Mr. Linehan contended that the proposal gave too much power to urban areas, which were not liable for any public health rate for the county.

On the Minister expressing himself in favour of the principle of proportional representation in the election of the boards of health, the amendment was withdrawn.

A PUZZLE.

There stood on the paper an amendment in the name of Mrs. Wyse-Power, dealing with the method of electing a board of health. In the first paragraph it was provided that each electoral area in a county have one representative on the board. For the election of the balance the lady Senator proposed the setting up within the county council of a system of groups, so as to ensure representation on the board of all classes of opinion.

Several Senators expressed the view that the proposal was altogether too complicated, and Mr. O'Farrell said it would make a new and difficult cross-word puzzle.

The Chairman said that he had not, from the wording of the proposal, the faintest notion of how the grouping arrangement was to be worked out. The House evidently agreed with the principle of giving all parties representation, and he suggested that the amendment should stand over to the report stage, by which time Mrs. Wyse-Power would be able to put her proposal in a simpler form.

The House agreed to this suggestion, and, so as not to prejudice Mrs. Wyse-Power's proposal, rejected an amendment by Mr. Butler that the election to the board be by proportional representation.

The Committee stage concluded, and the Senate adjourned until Wednesday, 18th inst., when the report stage will be taken up.

CONNAUGHT.

Free State ex-Captain's Gun.—At Broadford, Co. Clare, last Thursday John Ryan, an ex-captain of the National Army, was charged with being in illegal possession of a shot gun and with threatening to shoot a Civic Guard. The Guard found the defendant using a shot gun at Ballyquinn without a permit, and asked him to surrender it. Ryan told the Guard that he could have the contents of it. Subsequently Ryan went to the barracks and gave up the gun and expressed regret. The defendant denied that he had pointed the gun at the Guard. He admitted refusing to give it up, but that was because he was not quite sure if the man was really a Guard. The Guard said to him: "I suppose you'll shoot me!" The defendant replied: "I suppose I have shot better men than you." A solicitor produced a letter from Major-General Brennan, in which he said that Ryan had been in close association with him for seven years and had rendered the highest possible services. The General trusted that those services would not be forgotten by the Courts which Ryan had done so much to establish. Informations were refused and the defendant discharged under the Probation of Offenders Act.

No Licence Extensions in Lent.—In granting an extension of a licence on the occasion of a hockey club dance in Mohill, Co. Leitrim, the magistrate said that he would not grant similar applications for functions to be held during Lent.

Athlone Council's Houses. — Fourteen labourers' houses in Athlone, which cost £600 each to build, were offered for sale by the Urban Council at £350 each. Four offers were received, one of which was from a woman living outside the urban area and another from an ex-member of the Royal Irish Constabulary. The offer of an employé of the Council, and that of the mother of one of the members of the Council have been recommended for acceptance. Five of the prospective tenants, to whom the Council allotted the houses some time ago, offered to pay £100 cash and £32 a year for eight years, and four offered a similar amount in cash and £25 a year for ten years. The offers are to be submitted to the Minister for Local Government.

Alleged Infanticide.—Eliza O'Brien, a servant, employed at Ballycanew, was committed for trial at Gorey yesterday on a charge of murdering her infant by strangulation. Inadequate Road Signal.—That the accident was due to the failure of the plaintiff to give adequate and reasonable notice that he intended to stop his car, was the conclusion reached by Judge Linehan in a case at Omagh Quarter Sessions, in which James Whaley, Glebe, Drumquin, sued John R. M'Millen, Market street, Omagh, for compensation for damage to the plaintiff's motor car, caused, it was alleged, by the negligent driving of a motor car by the defendant, resulting in a collision. The defence was that the plaintiff gave no notice of his intention to stop, and that the plaintiff afterwards said that the practice of raising the hand was only for the cities and not for the country.

Ejectment Action Fails.—Judge Linehan, delivering judgment yesterday at Omagh Quarter Sessions in the ejectment suit brought by Susan Taggart, Ergenagh, against Robert Worthington, Gortmore, Omagh, in respect of a dwellinghouse and shop, said that he was clearly of opinion that the greater hardship would not be caused by refusing this order for possession than by granting it. The preponderance of hardships would be on the side of the defendant and his wife and two children, who had occupied the house for many years. He was bound to look to the question of alternative accommodation, and, in his opinion, there was none available. He dismissed the action.

Horticultural Shows.—Ulster Horticultural Society has decided to hold two shows in the Ulster Hall this year. The first will be in July for roses, sweet peas and other flowers, and the second in November for chrysanthemums and fruit. The society will renew its apple-orchard competition.

Death in A Tram.—Mrs. Gillan, wife of ex-District Inspector Gillan, who is at present serving as temporary district inspector of the Royal Ulster Constabulary at Lisburn, died suddenly in a Belfast tram yesterday morning.

Belfast Tramway Management.—Belfast's tramways were discussed at a meeting of the Belfast Corporation yesterday. The matter was referred to the General Purposes Committee with instructions to report to the Council within two months, what changes, if any, in the management and administration of the tramway undertaking should be made.

Tyrone Mansion Sold.—Cecil Manor, the seat of the late Mr. F. P. Gervais, near Augher, has been purchased by Mr. James Walsh, Annagarvey, Augher. A proposal was made a few weeks ago to acquire the building for use as a secondary school.

At a joint conference in Newry yesterday a settlement was reached in the dispute between the Newry Bacon Curing Company, Limited, and the Amalgamated Transport and General Workers' Union. Work will be resumed next Monday.

CRICKET.

M.C.C. v. VICTORIA.

SUTCLIFFE'S EXCELLENT RECORD.

MELBOURNE, February 6.

Batting with admirable steadiness, the M.C.C. team to-day made a splendid start in the return match against Victoria, their score at the close of play being 295 for 2 wickets. The cricket was at times somewhat dreary to watch, and there was a good deal of barracking by the crowd, which numbered about 3,000. The Australian bowling lacked sting, but the fielding was fairly good.

Sutcliffe, who was again to the fore with a sound and attractive 88, reached his thousandth run of the tour in eleven aside matches soon after play started. A. E. Gilligan, A. P. Chapman, Hobbs, Hendren and Woolley stood down, while Freeman acted as twelfth man.

The weather was fine, but very warm, and the pitch was in perfect condition, when Douglas, after beating Mayne in the toss, sent Sutcliffe and Sandham in to open the English innings to the bowling of Wallace and Ironmonger. The batsmen began cautiously, and the score rose slowly. The Surrey man was particularly careful, and he had only made a single when his partner's score stood at 14. Hendry displaced Wallace at 23, and Rayson went on at the other end 11 runs later. The game was an hour old when Sandham played a ball from Hendry on to his wicket. With Hearne in Sutcliffe completed his individual 50 in an hour and twenty-five minutes. He was batting beautifully, scoring well on both sides of the wicket and placing the ball with great accuracy. At the luncheon interval the total stood at 86 for 1 (Sutcliffe 52, Hearne 11).

Wallace and Rayson shared the attack on the resumption. The batsmen scored steadily, and the 100 was hoisted in an hour and thirty-three minutes. Hearne, with his score at 23, was very badly missed by Mayne at point off Rayson, and the barrackers urged the Victorian skipper to "get a bag." With the total at 150 Sutcliffe's excellent innings was brought to a close by a catch at first slip by Hendry off Ironmonger. The Yorkshireman occupied the crease for just under two hours and a quarter and hit 11 fours.

Hearne, who had made 38, was next joined by Whysall, and runs came very slowly. Frequent changes were tried in the attack, but without success. Hearne reached his half-century in exactly two hours, and after he had added another six the tea interval arrived with the total at 185 for 2, Whysall's score then being 16.

On the game being started Rayson and Ironmonger bowled, and the rate of scoring continued to be very slow. The barrackers were restless, and ironically cheered each run. When Whysall had scored 19 he gave a hard chance at "silly mid-off" to Willis, who in making a magnificent attempt to bring off a one-handed catch fell right in front of the batsman, being heartily cheered by the spectators. The scoring now became slower than ever, and the barrackers started "counting out" the batsmen. The second century was signalled when play had been in progress for three hours and twenty minutes. Whysall was very quiet, and at one time he only scored a single in twenty minutes. Hearne reached three figures (his second century of the tour) in three hours and twenty minutes. When Whysall had compiled 44 Ellis missed a chance of stumping him from Rayson's bowling. The score rose slowly to 295 for 2 wickets, and at this stage stumps were drawn for the day.

The Right Hon. William Watt, Speaker of the Federal House of Representatives, will entertain the English team to-morrow evening to dinner. Score:—

MR. JOEL'S XI. V. SOUTH AFRICA.

JOHANNESBURG, February 6.

The fourth "Unofficial Test" match between Mr. Joel's XI. and South Africa was begun here to-day in fine weather and on a good wicket. Tennyson beat Neser in the toss, and the visitors batted first. There was a sensational start, Holmes, who opened the innings with Bowley, being out to a magnificent catch by Meintjes, taken low down at square leg, in Nourse's first over, before either batsman had scored. Tyldesley was next in, and at once settled down to attractive and forceful cricket, but with the score at 48 he lost Bowley, who returned a ball to Nupen. With Russell in, the batsmen became very careful. Nupen exploited the "leg theory," and Hall was very troublesome. At the lunch interval the total stood at 76 for 2 wickets (Tyldesley 36 and Russell 11). On a fresh start being made, Nupen continued his leg theory deliveries, and at 88 he broke up the promising partnership for the third wicket by getting Tyldesley out leg before for a sound 38. MacBryan was caught off Hall at 93, and Tennyson was dismissed seven runs later, the innings then having lasted exactly two hours. Kennedy left at 109, and then with Jameson as partner Russell completed his 50 in an hour and three-quarters. The Essex player now began to hit more freely, and the partnership slowly wore down the bowling of Nupen and Hall, who were taken off in favour of Meintjes and Ling.

The fielding, which had been of a high standard, fell away to some extent. Ling got a good deal of break on the ball, and with the total at 174 he clean bowled Russell with a splendid delivery for an invaluable 80, his best innings of the tour so far. Apart from one chance when he had made 58, his display was faultless. He was at the wicket two hours and twenty-five minutes, and included in his hits were 8 fours. Geary followed in, but after scoring a single he was caught off Ling, and at this juncture the tea interval was taken with the total at 178 for 8.

Parker accompanied Jameson to the wicket at the resumption, and the second century was signalled as the result of three hours and forty minutes' play. Twenty-four runs later Parker was out for a plucky 26. Bartley then joined Jameson, and the total was taken to 239 before the dismissal of the former for a "duck," which brought the innings to a close. Jameson played a sterling innings of 53 not out, and at the critical stage assisted Russell to pull the game round. He occupied the crease for just over two hours.

South Africa began their first innings with Susskind and Siedle. Both opened confidently, and the close of play was reached without loss with the total at 27. Score:—

GAELIC GAMES.

JUNIOR AND SCHOOLS' LEAGUE.

BY PAT'O.

Without players recruited from junior, school and college ranks our scheme of Gaelic games would quickly fall to the ground. In these days, when senior players are resting after a year of continued competition in leagues, tournaments and championships, the junior competitions have the fields to themselves, and a visit to the Phœnix Park during the week-end was a revelation. Twenty years ago one playing pitch only was available in the Park. To-day there are a dozen, and they are fully occupied on Saturday afternoons and on Sunday all day long. Groups of eager young players, with their followers, may be seen preparing for their engagements with all the enthusiasm of youth.

The grip which Gaelic games have on the schoolboys of the capital is more apparent weekly, and the fact that the leadership has changed round between the St. Kevin's, Marlborough Rangers, Eoghan Ruadhs, etc., is good for the game.

St. Kevin's (Synge street Schools) had mastery for several seasons. Now their friends from Marlborough street are serious rivals, and the Eoghan Ruadhs have had a long series of successes. Games are begun punctually, walks-over are rare, and as many as sixteen games have recently been played on a Saturday afternoon. The broad blade of a caman and its easy angle for ground play make it a very acceptable medium for the schoolboy. When he learns to grip and swing it correctly it will prove a source of great joy to him. Speed, skill, combination, team play, quick and accurate shooting all enter into the hurling art. The game is essentially a vigorous and manly one, and it is daily becoming more popular as a team game amongst all classes. The successes of the Dublin senior teams in hurling and football championships during 1924 have had their reflection in the increased activity amongst the Metropolitan juveniles, who are making rapid progress in hurling.

The Senior Board have no fixtures for the week-end. Their programme is well forward, and the present state of the pitches tempts promoters to postpone their important ties to the longer days and, let us hope, brighter weather.

The Dublin County Convention will be held at Croke Park on Sunday evening, February 22nd, at 6 o'clock. Medals will be distributed, elections for 1925 will be held, the history of the year's working discussed, and plans formulated for the business of 1925.

The banquet in honour of the dual victory of Dublin in the recent hurling and football championships promises to be a very successful celebration. Kickhams and O'Tooles are clubs with long and honourable records, and 1924 has found them both successful in bringing the highest honours in the gift of the Association to the Metropolis. It was a happy thought to celebrate the occasion fittingly, and a "big night" is expected.

County Conventions are being held during each week-end through the provinces. The election of officers so far has shown no revolutionary inclinations, and the retiring officials have been elected unanimously in many instances. Opinions on the fateful question now known as "the ban" are as divergent as ever. Conventions in the neighbouring Counties of Limerick and Clare have come to different decisions. Clare County voted definitely in favour of the open door. Their neighbours across the Shannon were equally decisive against any alteration in the present constitution. The matter has been so fully discussed from time to time that the subject has been worn threadbare. Yet it seems to be absorbing immense interest at the moment. So long as delegates approach the subject in the interest of the Association, and with that interest alone at heart, no ill can result from healthy discussion. The Congress at Easter seems to be the proper place and time for such discussion, but we shall hear much spoken and read much written matter on the subject in the meantime, for the question will crop up at every county convention, where delegates to Congress will get definite instructions as to their procedure.

The Munster Council had an important meeting last week, and it is refreshing to observe some initiative. The Southern Province has been the stronghold of Gaelic Games in the past. Hurling seems to be holding its place, whilst the standard of Gaelic football has been steadily deteriorating in all counties outside Kerry. In the circumstances, Mr. P. M'Grath's decision to put up a valuable cup for competition between Munster Counties on the League system is very welcome. The Munster Council's secretary was elected unanimously last year for the twenty-fifth time, and the province's confidence has not been misplaced. Whether in Council or in routine office work Mr. M'Grath has been equally capable, and his long experience and steadiness has steered the Association through many difficult pathways.

IRISH AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP.

W. KAVANAGH v. G. MOLLOY.

The first of the semi-finals in the Irish Amateur Championship attracted a good-sized crowd to the Catholic Club, Sackville street, last night, and, after an interesting game, was won by W. Kavanagh, who defeated G. Molloy by 92 points. The earlier stages were of a somewhat one-sided character, as Kavanagh secured a big lead. Molloy, however, found his form towards the end, and, scoring rapidly, made the session one full of excitement. He, however, found his best form too late, and Kavanagh registered a very meritorious success. The winner's best efforts were 27, 30, 37, 31, 39, and 35 (unfinished), in most of which he displayed a delicacy of touch which always gave him an advantage over his opponent. Molloy played much below his form, but was seen at something approaching his best in runs of 24 (twice), 32, 18 (twice) 23, and 21. Final score:

| | |
|---|---|
| W. Kavanagh | 500 |
| G. Molloy | 408 |

To-night—Semi-Final—T. Kane v. P. Byrne. At 6 o'clock—Final Irish Ladies' Amateur Championship—Miss Baker v. Miss Fanning. Sunday—Final of Men's Championship (two sessions, 1,000 up).

NEWMAN v. DAVIS.

The champion scored at a particularly fast rate throughout yesterday afternoon's session of his 18,000 match with Davis at Burroughes's Hall, London. Play lasted less than two hours, and in that time Newman scored 1,099 points and Davis only 315. Davis added only 5 points to his unfinished 329, and his best subsequent breaks were 81 and 121. Newman's best were 245, 132, 95, 244, 245, and 73 (unfinished). Interval scores:—Davis (rec. 5,000), 9,598; Newman (in play), 6,750.

The champion converted his unfinished break into 181 and afterwards added 385 (including twenty-six cannons), 76, and 100 (unfinished). Davis's chief breaks were 105 and 147. Closing scores:—Davis (rec. 5,000), 9,982; Newman (in play), 7,501.

THE AMATEUR CHAMPIONSHIP.

E. Earle, Bournemouth, has received a walk-over in his amateur championship heat, W. Greenlees, Glasgow, the Scottish amateur champion, scratching.

SMITH v. FALKINER.

Smith has outpointed Falkiner to such an extent in their 16,000 up match at Leeds that, in spite of the fact that a week's play has not been completed, all competitive interest has disappeared. Falkiner has not only lost his 3,000 points start, but was actually more than 1,000 behind at the interval yesterday afternoon. Smith again outplayed his opponent, scoring 667 against 349. The former champion made breaks of 94, 84, and 80, and then finished the session with a splendid 469 (unfinished). Falkiner played well at the beginning while making 275, but afterwards fell away badly, and did nothing better than 70. Interval scores:—Smith (in play), 6,001; Falkiner (rec. 3,000), 4,887.

A feature of the play in the evening session was two excellent breaks by Smith—550 and 523. He again outpointed Falkiner, but the latter gave his best display, scoring 568 points against 665, with breaks of 112, 100 and 305. Closing scores: Smith (in play), 6,666; Falkiner (rec. 3,000), 5,455.

ARMY BILLIARDS.

G.H.Q. SERGEANTS' GOOD WIN.

The many facilities now afforded to the different sporting elements within the Army are being eagerly availed of by all ranks, and the marked improvement in the play of Army men all round is due to the opportunities offered them in the various branches of sport. Billiards are not neglected, and last evening at Collins' Barracks a team from the Sergeants' Mess, G.H.Q., opposed a team from the Sergeants' Mess (21st Battalion) Collins' Barracks. The results were:—

Sergeant Myers (G.H.Q.) beat Sergeant Gilligan (Collins).

Sergeant Hughes (G.H.Q.) beat Sergeant Craig (Collins).

Sergeant Coates beat Sergeant Hoffar. Sergeant Coates was a noted Dublin boy champion some years ago.

Q.M.S. Doyle (Collins) beat Sergeant Harvey (G.H.Q.).

Sergeant Harris (G.H.Q.) beat Sergeant M'Darby (Collins).

Sergeant Coffey (G.H.Q.) beat Sergeant Meyler (Collins).

The G.H.Q. team won by 5 games to 1.

FRENCH COVERED-COURTS CHAMPIONSHIPS.

PARIS, Friday.

J. Borotra and R. Lacoste to-day beat P. D. B. Spence and B. D. Brinnce in the semi-finals of the French covered-courts lawn tennis championships in a closely-contested match, the score being 6-4, 6-3, 3-6.

HOCKEY.

INTERPROVINCIAL TRIALS.

TWO DRAWN GAMES.

Yesterday's Inter-Provincial Trials at Claremont road cannot have been of much assistance to the selectors, owing to the conditions under which they were played. A soft, heavy pitch, cut up badly, and a couple of showers of sleet made matters unpleasant for both players and spectators. Under the circumstances, it was not surprising to find the attendance small, but if the hockey never reached a high level, both matches were keenly fought and interesting from start to finish. Leinster and the Midlands drew on a 2-all score, and the final score in the Ulster-Munster match was 1 all.

LEINSTER (2) v. MIDLANDS AND CONNAUGHT (2).

The first of the Inter-Provincial Hockey Trials played yesterday at Claremont road, between Leinster and the Midlands and Connaught was, for several reasons, anything but satisfactory. The weather for the better part of the match, which ended in a draw, was both cold and wet, and the state of the ground, though improved, was too heavy to permit of good hockey.

As an aid to the selectors the match proved of little value. The game was of a very scrappy order, and was a better exhibition of individual effort than of combined team work. Leinster had, if anything, the better forward line, as such, but at no time did either side shine as a team.

Leinster fielded their team as announced, but on the Midlands' side two changes were made, Colton taking the place of Reid in goal, and Manners going on for Meehan at centre-half.

During the first half Leinster did most of the pressing, though the Midlands came back well, and it was mainly due to the fine work of the Midlands' defence that the home province were kept out. The only goal scored in that period was netted by Leitch from a mix-up in front of goal, and from this to the interval the game was very scrappy. The Midlands' forwards were, as a rule, faster and used their sticks well, but the Leinster front line combined better, and passed more accurately. Both sides were weak in the circle, and frequent penalties did much to spoil the play.

After the resumption Trayer equalised from in front of goal, Gibson being just too slow with the clearance, and the game speeded up considerably. Both the Sully brothers had bad luck with fast shots at goal, and it was due to a good centre by Smalles that Leinster again took the lead, V. Sully snapping up the pass well, and beating Colton with a fast shot.

The last goal of the match came from a good run by the Munster forwards, Cummins beating Gibson for the equaliser.

For Leinster, Browner did well at left-full, McDonald was safe at centre-half, and the pick of the forwards were Tydd-Chapman, and the brothers Sully.

Colton, in goal for the Midlands, was very sound, while both Sweeney and Dolan, especially the latter, gave splendid displays at full. Sargent showed enterprise at left-half, and Foy, Cummins and Trayer were most conspicuous in the forward line.

Teams:—

LEINSTER.

C. W. Gibson (Kingstown G.S.); K. Browner and K. Downey (Railway Union); W. Morrison (Monkstown), E. McDonnell (Royal Hibernians), R. Brown (Three Rock Rovers); R. A. Smalles (Royal Hibernians), W. R. Tydd-Chapman (Teddington), V. Sully, H. Sully (capt.), and R. Leitch (Railway Union).

Umpires—Messrs. F. Scales and N. Redmond.

ULSTER (1) v. MUNSTER (1).

When Ulster and Munster came out the ground was in a wretched condition, and to make matters worse a second shower of sleet, which fell early on, was heavy enough to drive both players and spectators to shelter. The game ran on very much the same lines as that between Leinster and the Midlands, and the result, a draw, one goal all, very fairly reflects the play.

As an attacking force the Northern team were superior. Led by McGregor, the forward line combined well, and in spite of the slippery surface produced a number of dashing attacks, any one of which might have yielded a score. Where the men failed was in the circle, which was not to be wondered at, seeing that it was next to impossible to keep one's feet in the mud. Also, McGregor did not enjoy the best of luck with his shots. Once he was over and once, when he ran right through the Munster defence, his push shot was only inches wide. Then, on at least three occasions, he put in fast drives from close range, only to find them stopped and cleared by Lee. The Dunmanway man had put up a splendid game against Leinster at Cork last week, and yesterday's play stamped him as fit to rank with the best of Munster goal-keepers of the past.

It was in defence that the Munster side shone. Stockill, who is playing well up to his form of last year, proved a tower of strength, and he was well supported by A. S. Travers. Both tackled soundly and their clearances were hard and clean hit, no easy matter on such a pitch. All three halves worked hard from start to finish, and gave the opposing forwards very little scope. The forward line did not fit together well, but allowances must be made for the conditions, and on the game, as played, they can be said to be a line of decided promise.

As we have said, the strength of the Ulster side lay in the forward line. Through the field the men were fast and well together. Never afraid to hit, hard swinging passes kept the game open, and both wings showed plenty of pace and judgment in putting across their centres. They were well supported by their half-backs. Dick and Smith proved a very reliable pair of backs and stood up to the rushing Munster tactics very stoutly. In goal Greenfield was not severely tested and got through what came his way cleverly.

Throughout the first half there was nothing in the exchanges. It was just rush and counter-rush, with neither side able to push home their attacks. In the second half Ulster had the balance of play, but again failed against the steady defence. The opening score fell to Munster about midway through, when Hall finished off a good dash along the wing with a wonderful cross-shot, which gave Greenfield absolutely no chance. Subsequently Lee brought off a number of great saves, and some time had elapsed before McGregor broke through to equalise, with a fast drive from close range. To the end Ulster continued to have just a shade the best of the game, but failed to get past the Munster defence, and the final whistle came with the score unaltered. Teams:—

INTER-UNIVERSITY MATCH.

QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY (3) v. DUBLIN UNIVERSITY (2).

In the College Park, on a heavy pitch, Queen's University defeated Dublin University by 3 goals to 2. In the first half both teams seemed to be affected by the adverse weather conditions, but during the second play improved. Trinity were first to attack, and Miss Thrift, following a good run down the wing, passed to the centre-forward, who, however, shot wide. After some up and down play, which brought the ball to the Trinity circle, Miss Strahan (centre-forward) scored for Queen's. Very soon after Miss Strahan made another attempt to score, which Miss Levingston saved well. Before half time Miss Fisher (inside-left) scored another goal for Queen's.

On resuming, Trinity improved, and following a corner Miss Pedlow reduced the lead. Mid-way through the second half Miss Selcraig (inside-right) added Queen's third goal. Time and again the Queen's forwards attacked, but Miss Ennis, in goal, saved magnificently. Immediately before the finish Miss Thrift broke away up the right wing, and passed to Miss Halliday, who scored cleverly. This proved to be the final goal, and the finish found Queen's University good winners by the odd goal in five.

A well-balanced side, the Queen's forwards played a fast, clever game all through, Miss Strahan being outstanding. For the losers, Miss Ennis played a very sound game, and was ably assisted by the Misses Levingston and Gentleman. Miss Gillespie (centre) was the best of the halves, and both Miss Thrift and Miss McNeilly showed good pace on the wings.

Teams:—

Dublin University—Misses M. Ennis; L. Gentleman, N. Levingston; N. Clarendon (capt.), D. Gillespie, A. Buchanan; E. Thrift, E. Halliday, E. Pedlow, R. Kinkead, A. McNeilly.

IRISH HOCKEY UNION—ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual general meeting of the Irish Hockey Union was held in Jury's Hotel, Dame street, yesterday, Mr. Raymond Burke, D.L., President, in the chair. The minutes of the January and October meetings were read and confirmed. Mr. J. E. Mil' was elected President for the ensuing year. Messrs. J. W. Crawford and E. Burney were elected as representatives on the International Rules Board.

The addition to Rule 14, I.H.U. Rules—"That all venues for international matches for the following season be fixed at the New Year meeting," proposed by Mr. Crawford and seconded by Mr. Waugh, and passed at the October general meeting, to be brought forward at this meeting and, if passed, to become part of the agenda for New Year's meeting, was passed.

The recommendation from the adjourned special meeting held in November, "That a recommendation be sent from this meeting to the I.H.U. meeting in the new year that the English match in 1926 be played in Ulster," proposed by Mr. Rose and seconded by Mr. Crawford, was passed unanimously, after a lengthy discussion, in which delegates from all the branches took part. Dublin was chosen as the venue for the Welsh match next year.

It was proposed by Mr. Crawford, seconded by Mr. Jackson, and passed—"That, in the event of a draw between Leinster and Ulster to-day in the competition for the cup presented by the Leinster Regiment, extra time be played, and that, in the case of neither side winning at the close of play, the Emergency Committee shall meet to decide on the return match."

It was arranged that the Irish Selection Committee meet after the Leinster-Ulster match this afternoon to select the Irish team to meet Wales.

A vote of thanks was passed to the honorary officers of the I.H.U., after which a letter was read from the Secretary of the French Hockey Association, in which he said they were sorry that they would be unable to meet Ireland this year, as they would be playing in the International Tournament in Geneva at Easter.

After a vote of thanks to the Chairman, the meeting concluded.

NEW CHURCH TO OUR LADY OF LOURDES,

A temporary Edifice has been erected on the site secured for the New Church, which is badly needed in this locality.

It is already crowded, and the Shrine has aroused a deep spirit of Devotion to Our Lady of Lourdes, with most beneficial results among the people.

The Accommodation afforded by the Temporary Structure is inadequate. The Administrator strongly appeals to the Catholics of Dublin and of Ireland for the means to undertake the building of the New Church. The district being one of the most densely populated and poorest in the city, little pecuniary aid can be expected from it.

The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be offered EACH WEEK for Subscribers.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

The Free State Senate yesterday finished the Committee stage of the Local Government Bill.—(Page 5.)

The Coroner's jury at Cresslough yesterday found that the three victims of the railway accident at Owencarron Viaduct, County Donegal, on the 30th ultimo, when a train was blown off the rails, died from the injuries that they then received, and added their unanimous opinion that, if a properly-constructed rail had been carried along the whole length of the viaduct, no lives would have been lost.—(Page 7.)

The Agricultural Committee of the Royal Dublin Society has passed a resolution suggesting that a committee, consisting of six members nominated by the Irish Masters of Foxhounds Association, the Minister for Justice, and the R.D.S., should be appointed to consider the question of fox-trapping in Ireland, and to advise as to what steps should be taken to safeguard the national interests.—(Page 7.)

GREAT BRITAIN.

The Conference of the Executive of the N.U.R. adjourned yesterday without coming to any decision on the railway deadlock.—(Page 7.)

ABROAD.

The ruler of the Moroccan tribesmen who are fighting the Spaniards states his views and peace terms in a special interview.—(Page 7.)

Shots were fired at the Duchess of Albufera in a Paris street yesterday. The Duchess was wounded, but not seriously.—(Page 7.)

Treasury bills were placed at 3 23-32 per cent., about the same as last week. Loans were easy at 2¾ per cent. and lower. Foreign Exchanges were dull.—(Page 10.)

In Dublin the market was firm. Bank of Ireland Stock rose 5 to 295. Guinness Shares improved ¼ to 54 3-16 on the declaration of the doubled interim dividend of 24s. per £10 unit of stock, tax free.—(Page 10.)

The State and Distress.

We have commented more than once on the Free State Government's neglect or ignorance of the new practice of "publicity." Its attitude to the present distress in the West and South furnishes a flagrant illustration of this defect. The problem—an old and recurrent one—presents itself now for the first time to an Ireland who is mistress of her own affairs. The Government, therefore, ought to have been peculiarly anxious to show the world that it was ready and able to cope with the situation. As a matter of fact, it has no cause for diffidence or concealment; for since it took office it has given much time and thought to the problems of the rural slums. The new Land Act goes to the root of the matter in its bold provision for migration and for the resettlement of grass lands. Already tenants have been selected for some 3,000 acres on eight estates, and a further 18,000 acres are being prepared for distribution. If the policy of migration is carried forward zealously in the present year, we may have good hope that the "distress" of 1925 will be the last in the annals of the Free State. Furthermore, the Government to-day is doing excellent work for the relief of the famished peasantry—quite as much as, in the circumstances, it could be expected to do. It is supplying the stricken districts with coal and timber; it is feeding many thousands of school children and it has granted large sums for the provision of employment. Concerning all these efforts, however, it has observed what may be described as a conspiracy of silence. Dail Eireann, assembling on Tuesday after the Christmas holidays, was dismissed for another week without a word of information about the extent or severity of the distress. From the very outset the "Publicity" Office ought to have kept the country in close touch with the Western situation. The Dail ought to have been held in session until the Executive had given to it, and to the world, a full and clear account of the character of the distress, of the measures which the Government has taken, and will take, to relieve it, and of the help which is required from the benevolence of the Irish people at home and, possibly, abroad.

The results of the Government's silence are lamentable. Because it has not advertised its own work, the world at large believes that it has done nothing at all. Because it has made a mystery of the extent of the distress, a thousand gross exaggerations have become current. Nobody denies that misery and hardship prevail in certain areas by reason of the failure of the turf and potato crops: this was, perhaps, the first newspaper which made the fact generally public. It is not true, however, that Ireland is threatened with a repetition of the disaster of 1847 or is under any necessity to throw herself once again on the charity of two hemispheres. Yet the British Press has burgeoned into excited articles which convey this impression—the work, for the most part, of really kind-hearted strangers to whom, at any time, the normal conditions of the Western seaboard would seem abnormal. There is talk of the raising of relief funds, amounting to millions, in Great Britain and the United States. We agree that a few millions of pounds would benefit the Free State—but not millions raised in this indiscriminate and hectic fashion. Surely it is a thing untimely to the point of tragedy that, at a moment when our young State ought to be showing a proud and confident front to the world, it is condemned again, as in the worst days of British "oppression," to bear from Continent to Continent "the pageant of its bleeding heart." Let us have the truth by all means, but no more than the truth. The Roman Catholic Archbishop of Armagh has given it in his statement to Cardinal Hayes that there is "no famine, but much want in places." This want must be relieved, but there is no occasion for a national parade in the rags of Hecuba. The people of the Saorstat can do most of what is needed, ought to do it, and, as we are convinced, will do it if their Government will make haste to take them into its confidence. Its astonishing silence about the distress is injurious to the real interests of the victims, injurious to its own reputation and highly injurious to the financial and moral credit of the State.

A New Sultan.

The Spanish campaign in Morocco seems at last to have reached a stage beyond which further fighting would be useless. Abdul Krim, the leader of the Riffs, has succeeded in driving the Spaniards into a corner, bounded on the one side by the sea and on the other by the neutral territory of Tangier; and the final withdrawal of King Alfonso's army cannot be long delayed. The Spanish troops have been exposed to appalling dangers during the last few years; their officers, brave as lions, have lacked knowledge and experience, and their equipment has been totally inadequate. Yet they have made an extremely gallant fight against odds which, in the circumstances, must be described as overwhelming. Their opponents, led by that remarkable soldier, Abdul Krim, are born warriors, who are at home in the terribly difficult country in which the war has been waged, and have had the enormous advantage of being almost constantly on the offensive. Abdul Krim was trained in the Spanish Army, and, knowing its methods thoroughly, was able to strike always at its most vulnerable points. We print to-day a statement which he has made to a Special Correspondent, outlining the terms on which he is prepared to treat with the Spanish Directory. Castilian pride may revolt at the mere suggestion that Spain should compromise with a Moor; but when Raisuli, the Spaniards' only ally in Morocco, was captured by the Riffs, General Primo de Rivera's last hope of a conclusive victory vanished. Now he is faced with the alternatives of a negotiated settlement and an ignominious defeat which would ruin the prestige of Spain.

Abdul Krim—who now entitles himself Sultan Mohammed I.—declares, first and foremost, that he has no thought of leading a Pan-Islamic campaign against anybody. "We have no relations," he asserts, "with French Morocco, Algeria, Tunis or Egypt," and "Spain is our only enemy." He is willing to make peace with the Spanish Government on the basis of the complete surrender of the Protectorate. The national independence of the Riff territory must be recognised, and then Abdul Krim will be willing to discuss the future government of the coast zone from Tangier to the French frontier. He suggests that, when Spain has abandoned her claim to a Protectorate, he will consent to the internationalisation of the coast zones; and he will raise no objection to Spain's retention of the two towns of Ceuta and Melilla, which, he admits, are virtually Spanish in every way. As for his own territory, Abdul Krim proposes to govern it through an absolute monarchy. He refuses to recognise Mulay Yussef as Sultan of Morocco, but disclaims any hostility to France, with whom he has no intention of making war "unless we are attacked." He demands, however, that a regular frontier shall be delimited between the Riff territory and the French zone, and insists that it shall be a natural border, regulated by mountains and rivers, instead of by some imaginary line, such as that which exists at present. Before anything can be done, of course, Spain must ask for an armistice and call a peace conference. Indeed, a conference of some kind is highly desirable; for, whether or not Abdul Krim has direct relations with the Moslems of other parts of the world, they are watching him very closely and regard him as a possible successor to the clay-footed idol, Mustapha Kemal, as leader of Islam against the Giaour. Further pursuit of the war would be madness, and it must be hoped that the present situation will be taken in hand by the Powers with the least possible delay.

The Threat to Hunting.

In our articles on the menace to Irish hunting from the indiscriminate trapping of foxes we have insisted that immediate legislation is required if the headlong process of destruction is to be stopped. We have urged Masters of Hounds and the Royal Dublin Society to lay the case before the Government of the Free State. Now the Agricultural Committee of the Royal Dublin Society makes a practical proposal for action. The Committee, in a cogent resolution, shows that the industry of hunter-breeding, so precious to Ireland and the basis of so large a part of the Society's own patriotic work, stands in danger of ruin. If the last of our foxes are slain by reckless purveyors of pelts, hunting will cease; the million a year spent by hunting-folk in Ireland will be taken from the country; the breeding industry will perish, and the petty gain of a few will bring lasting loss upon the nation. To prevent this economic and social disaster the Committee recommends that Masters of Foxhounds shall join the Society and representatives of the Ministry of Justice in considering the problem and devising a remedy. The details of the proposal are tentative, but we heartily approve its principle; and, since the destruction proceeds apace, we trust that no time will be lost in approaching the Government. Mr. Kevin O'Higgins has promised that corrective action may be taken if the evil of trapping is proved to be widespread and perilous. The testimony of Masters of Hounds which has appeared in our columns, and the resolution of the Royal Dublin Society's Committee, are clear evidence that alarm is felt throughout the Irish hunting world. Once the position has been investigated officially, the Government, we are sure, will ask Parliament to make the trapping of foxes and the sale of Irish fox-skins illegal throughout the country.

Salesmanship.

Parents of children who are destined to follow a commercial calling will find lively interest in an experiment at the Westminster Voluntary Day Continuation School, which is described in the Educational Supplement of The Times. The headmaster, Mr. Williams, had received numerous appeals from boys and girls anxious to enter business and desiring advice as to the qualifications required. He approached the heads of several great stores and ascertained their needs. They told him that they found much difficulty in recruiting their staffs with young people adequately trained, and with him they worked out a syllabus of studies. Already a course based on this syllabus has fitted large numbers of young men and women to enter the distributive business in those great concerns, wherein hundreds, and even thousands, of workers are organised in grades, with no obstacle to prevent the humblest worker's ascent to the well-paid managerial posts at the top. The course comprises English, accounts, commercial geography and history, design and methods of salesmanship; but encouragement is given to supplementary courses of more liberal studies. It is held that, with the rise of modern methods, better educated workers make for higher efficiency as well as for greater dignity in the business of distribution. The salesman who knows more about the object which he is handling than its price, and can explain its origin and composition, is more effective in addressing potential buyers, and more apt to ensure that the purchaser gets exactly the article suited to his needs. Thus commerce, which of old attracted the best elements in the race, is ridding itself of those vulgar and slap-dash qualities that disfigured business in the flush of industrial progress.

LONDON LETTER.

THE FRENCH DEBT.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

A small committee of the Cabinet is now engaged upon the final draft of the inter-Allied Debts Note to be sent to Paris, and it is expected that it will be completed and despatched early next week. In the meanwhile some very interesting discussions are taking place. The visit to London of Mr. Myron T. Herrick, the United States Ambassador to France, for the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg to the King and Queen to-night, gives the British Government an opportunity for an exchange of views on a situation which must develop with some rapidity once the Note has been received by the French Government. In this connection it is said that Mr. Parker Gilbert, the Agent-General for Reparations, and M. Delacroix, the Belgian delegate on the Reparations Commission, are both in touch with the Treasury on matters of procedure, and will be in London for some days. It seems certain that opinion is growing in France that something must be done to restore French credit, and many business men there consider that our great effort to meet our obligations to the United States has been a very wise stroke of business, and an example which France might follow with advantage.

The Farming Conference.

The Prime Minister will have to consider the position of his Government regarding the proposed Agricultural Conference; for the two trade unions representing the agricultural workers of the country have decided definitely not to send representatives to a body which, it was hoped, would be able to settle a land policy on non-political lines. The Socialists are behind this move; for they are not desirous of lending a helping hand to the Conservatives in such a cause, and hope to bring forward an agricultural policy of their own in the near future. The two trade unions, however, represent only one agricultural worker out of every seven, and it is possible that Mr. Baldwin may be able to secure representatives of free labour to serve on the committee.

St. Paul's.

The condition of St. Paul's Cathedral is so puzzling to the layman that it is not surprising that many people are of the opinion that a Government inquiry should be held without delay to ascertain what steps shall be taken to preserve a building of national interest. On one side, we are told that the Cathedral is not in a state of immediate danger, while, on the other, the City of London Surveyor thinks that it may collapse at any moment. Grouting, or filling in the empty piers, is suggested as a remedy by some, but others maintain that it is useless to spend immense sums on bolstering up a building which is in danger. This conflict in ideas seems to suggest that the sooner a definite decision is reached the better for the future of the great Metropolitan church. Few people would complain if the State had to contribute liberally to the safe maintenance of St. Paul's.

A Fine Library.

A great deal is being heard about St. Paul's Cathedral as a building, but, though most Londoners know it well from the outside, comparatively few people know much of the interior. It has a magnificent library, which is said to possess the finest collection of theological books in the world, consisting of some twelve thousand volumes, many of great value. This library is situated in a spacious room in the South-West Tower, and reached by a spiral staircase from the south aisle. The visitor can see the signatures of Archbishop Cranmer, Archbishop Laud and Bishop Juxon, as well as many other interesting ecclesiastical treasures. A curiosity of the library is an illuminated "Book of Penalties" for the non-performance of Services in the Chapel of King Henry VII. at Westminster Abbey. A waistcoat, worn by Sir Christopher Wren, of green-flowered silk, is another treasure, and there are also elaborate models of the Cathedral and of Wellington's funeral car.

Cuala Industries.

At the Ladies' Lyceum Club in Piccadilly this afternoon a delightful collection of pretty things from the Cuala industry in Dublin were offered for sale by the members of the Irish circle of the Club, under the direction of Mrs. Francis Aitken, the President of the circle. The needlework was particularly fine, and it was all worked on Irish hand-made material. There was a great display of hand-coloured prints from designs by Mr. and Mrs. Jack B. Yeats and a supply of the well-known books from the Cuala Press. A stand of painted woodwork was very effective, the designs and colouring alike being good. It is quite possible that this little sale of to-day may be the nucleus of a big adventure later on; for other Irish industries, hearing that it was to take place, asked to be permitted to join.

Oil.

I learn that Sir Charles Greenaway and Sir Arnold Wilson, of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company, are leaving London in a day or two for South America, and that it is possible that important results may come about from the visit. The Anglo-Persian already owns valuable fields in the Argentine, but this tour may be one of something more than inspection. It is possible, indeed, that a rapprochement may be reached between the Anglo-Persian and companies like the British Controlled Oilfields in Guiana and Brazil with the Royal Dutch Shell in Venezuela, and even with American companies like the Standard, a close alliance with which concern has long been advocated by Sir John Cadman, the Anglo-Persian's greatest expert.

Ocean Cables.

The great developments in wireless telegraphy do not interfere with the plans of the cable companies; for additions and improvements, with important plans for the immediate future, are under consideration. The Pacific Cable Board proposes to lay down nearly six thousand miles of new submarine cable to improve the services to Australia. One additional line will run between Bamfield, Vancouver, and Fanning Island, and another between Fanning Island and Suva, Fiji. The line between Vancouver and Fanning Island will be the greatest length of unbroken cable communication in the world.

Street Accidents.

London street accidents are increasing at such a rate that the subject is to be brought to the notice of the newly constituted London Traffic Committee. For the last quarter of 1924 there were 238 fatal accidents in the streets, bringing the total deaths for the year to 845, an increase of 178 over the previous year. The question of the registration and licensing of horse traffic and drivers is to be considered; for, though horse-drawn vehicles were responsible for comparatively few fatal accidents, it is felt that they may have contributed towards many mishaps in which the actual damage was inflicted by motor vehicles.

England's Homes.

The breaking up of fine old English homes and estates continues, and several more are now being advertised as for sale. Lord Stalbridge is selling his Motcombe estate in Dorset, with which goes the village of Motcombe. The Marquis of Northampton wants to sell his deer forest of Lochluichart in Ross-shire, and Lord Howard of Glossop is selling the Glossop-dale estate in Derbyshire. Rood Aston, so long the home of the late Lord Long of Wraxall, is to be let by the trustees.

"WILL FIGHT SPAIN TO THE DEATH."

RIFF LEADER INTERVIEWED.

LAME MOORISH LAWYER WHO RULES THE TRIBESMEN.

SPECIAL CABLEGRAM.

WE publish below an illuminating message from our Special Correspondent, who gives first-hand information of the position in Morocco. He arrived at Tangier yesterday, after an adventurous trip through the Riff country.

He was a prisoner of the Metalsas frontier tribesmen for eleven days, and when he was released he covered the whole of the Riff and Western Moroccan front.

Afterwards he ran the Spanish blockade on the coast and interviewed Abd el Krim. The Riff chief declared that the tribesmen intend to fight until they obtain complete independence, and will not recognise the Spanish Protectorate in any form.

General Primo de Rivera, the Spanish Dictator, on the other hand, stated yesterday that he was returning to Morocco, where the destruction of Raisuli's power had obliged the Spaniards to adopt certain new dispositions, and to reorganise certain of their scattered units.

A number of wounded have been brought into Tangier during the past few days.

PEACE TERMS TO SPAIN.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.
TANGIER, Friday.

Sultan Mohammed the First, known to the outside world as Abdel Krim, reigns undisputed Sovereign over all Northern Morocco, from Melilla to Tangier. A month's trip from one end of his kingdom to the other, which I have just completed, shows the extent, organisation and force of this new kingdom, and indicates the serious importance and power which has arisen in the person of a little, lame Moorish lawyer, who now is hailed as the champion of All Islam.

This trip across the Riff and Western Morocco, accomplished by mule, horse and afoot, explodes the many cherished European illusions about the Riff—such as the idea of "Soviet money" and other pet notions of German officers, as well as the general misconception that the Riff is a disorganised tribal feudalism at war with European civilisation.

Abdel Krim himself is, by current opinion, supposed to be a wild chieftain, leading fanatic mountain tribesmen to victory with blood-curdling war whoops in the cause of "Holy War."

As a matter of fact, Abdel Krim is a quiet, dignified Moorish lawyer, extremely well educated, lame in one leg, and has never led his "tribesmen" to battle, and is never likely to do so, as his younger brother, Prince Mahmed, is an expert general, trained in the best European tradition.

On January 20th Abdel Krim granted me an extremely long interview, in which he outlined his terms of peace and his general attitude to all the Powers concerned in the Moroccan question.

The interview took place in the Sultan's house at Ait Kamara, a Moorish village, lying on the slopes of the Riff foot-hills, less than eight miles from the Bay of Alhucemas.

Lord Mohammed, as Abdel Krim is called by his own subjects, handled the interview with dignity, precision and despatch. I was lodged in his house at Asrar, on the coast of Alhucemas Bay. The day previously I was requested to submit a list of questions, and on the 20th, when Sidi Mohammahdi, the Sultan's brother-in-law, came for me, answers had been carefully prepared.

After a ride of eight miles through an enchanting spring landscape, with the valleys and foot-hills covered with almond blossom, we arrived at Ait Kamara.

The Sultan's guard — green-turbaned regulars—belonging to the smallest, but best, unit of the Riff Army—all equipped with French rifles and ammunition and hand grenades, which are considered superior to the Spanish, stood at attention as we entered the unpretentious doorway.

THE INTERVIEW.

In a small room off the courtyard Abd el Krim sat at a table examining a huge pile of papers. This was the first table or chair I had seen for two weeks and indicates the European touch the Sultan has applied to all his dealings. Another European touch was the fact that neither Abd el Krim, his brother-in-law nor myself removed our sandals during the conversation.

Abd el Krim is a short, dark-bearded man, inclined to stoutness, and is distinguished chiefly by his direct penetrating gaze; his dark brown eyes never wander from the person to whom he is speaking.

"The Pan-Islamic movement does not exist," was his categorical answer to the first question.

"All this talk about Pan-Islamism has as its principal object to frighten the English and the French into an attitude of opposition to the Riff Government. We have no relations whatever with any movement in French Morocco, Algeria, Tunis or Egypt, and we have no intention of trying to establish such relations. Our struggle is exclusively national and our only enemy is Spain—this, through Spain's will and not through ours, as nothing would suit us better than peace with Spain, as with the whole world."

Abd el Krim spoke rapidly and decisively, in Arabic — his own choice, as he speaks fluent Spanish and French—and Sidi Mohammahdi performed the translation to French, while Abd el Krim listened attentively for any possible mistakes.

PEACE TERMS.

"As for peace; it can come whenever Spain wants it to come," he declared. "We desire, above all things, peace and liberty to go to work, and, before all others, we wish Spain to be at peace with us and to be, if possible, our friend and ally."

The next question submitted concerned the terms of peace Abd el Krim would offer to Spain.

"Every Spanish soldier in Morocco, from the Atlantic to the Eastern frontier, must be withdrawn to Ceuta Melilla or Spain," he declared. "Nothing less than a complete surrender of the Spanish protectorate will satisfy us. We demand this in the name of the whole Moroccan nation, as the Spanish protectorate has brought, and can bring, nothing but misery and desolation on our people. If Spain will surrender her claim to the so-called protectorate, we are willing to make peace on the following terms:—

"Independence and the national sovereignty of the Riff to be clearly recognised, and all the territory from the Melilla zone to the zone near the coast to be attributed to the Riff. We are bound by sacred promises to the tortured population of Angora and the Larache countries to liberate them from Spanish rule, and we shall do so, no matter how long it takes.

"Once Spain has surrendered her protectorate we are willing to consent to any arrangement, within reason, for the future government of the coast zone from Tangier to the French frontier. We do not demand sovereignty over the area from Tangier to Ceuta.

SPANISH RULE CONDEMNED.

"We propose peace on a general basis with all the Powers interested in Morocco as participate in the settlement. We shall never consent to a Spanish protectorate over any part of Morocco, because the Spanish rule has proved cruel, inefficient, and ruinous to our people. However, if some compromise can be suggested—such as the inter-nationalisation of the coast zones—we are willing to enter into a discussion.

"A Spanish Protectorate we shall never admit—never! Spain is entitled to the Cities of Ceuta and Melilla, which are practically Spanish now, but the rest of Morocco must come under our sovereignty, or be governed by a compromise settlement.

"When peace is established, we propose to continue our present form of Government," the Sultan continued. "That is to say, we shall continue to govern by what you call absolute monarchy, as it is demonstrably best of our people. Eventually we intend to transform this Government into a constitutional monarchy, on the broadest Liberal lines, but this is impossible for at least a generation.

NOT A REPUBLIC.

"The name Riff Republic is a gross misnomer," the Sultan remarked at this point. "We never had a republic, and never contemplated one. Republic is the name we use to designate small local groups, even smaller than tribes—exactly the same as the Spanish Juntas. We have several republics in every company of infantry, for instance. I believe our Government was first called a Riff republic by an English newspaper, and the name stuck.

"The Riff will not recognise the authority of Sultan Mulay Yussef, either now or at any time in future. Sultan Mulay Yussef's sovereignty over Morocco is a fable, in which all the Powers have agreed to believe. But we know Yussef is a prisoner of the French, and neither can, nor will, take any action in his own name. It is not our intention to recognise the sovereignty of any prisoner, even if he is called the Sultan of Morocco.

"Moreover, Yussef's title tothe Throne is decidedly doubtful, since the French deposed both his brothers, and gave him sovereignty.

NO ATTACK ON FRANCE.

"Our attitude towards France is friendly in the extreme. We have never desired anything but the best relations towards France, and we have no intention of attacking the French in Morocco. To me, war with France is inconceivable—unless we are attacked. If we are attacked, we shall defend ourselves; but that is an eventuality too remote to contemplate. It is certainly not to France's interest to attack us.

"We extend a friendly hand to France, and we sincerely hope our friendship will be accepted. Frontier difficulties—such as those in Beni Zeroual areas—cannot be avoided under present conditions, but I affirm that we have never attacked French troops or friendly tribes, and not one Riff regular soldier has ever crossed the French frontier.

"Frontier skirmishes can be avoided only by one means—that is the regular delimination of our frontiers. This, we suggest, should be made one of the conditions of peace, when the inevitable Peace Conference comes—a Frontier Commission should be established to draw practical boundary lines between our country and French Morocco.

THE BOUNDARY PROBLEM.

"The present frontier is an imaginary line which never existed, except on the maps and in the minds of the diplomats who made it. It was drawn up in 1904 by the negotiators of the Franco-Spanish Agreement. We do not recognise that agreement, and cannot recognise the boundary, which passes through the middle of tribes, sometimes in the middle of villages or through a house.

"The practical natural frontier, regulated by rivers and mountains, should be established, and I can guarantee we would never again have any trouble with France. If Spain wishes for peace she can ask for an armistice, and call a conference to establish the terms of peace.

"If Spain wishes for war we are ready for war for an indefinite term of years. We have enough arms and ammunition now for the next two years, and the supply never ceases as long as the Spanish soldiers have anything to lose. Our people are hardy and warlike, and determined to fight to the end. Our successes in the past four years, since my Government was established, have given us practically all Northern Morocco, and we are confident that in six months time will be sufficient to give us the rest. We do not wish for war, but we shall fight until peace can come on terms acceptable to a free independent nation.

GROWING IN STRENGTH.

"The Spanish retreat, which is just now completed, has been a greater disaster to Spain than the Anoual catastrophe in 1921. This retreat has tripled our fighting strength, for it has given us the allegiance of all Western Morocco—not to speak of our two thousand Spanish prisoners, our many thousands of newly-captured rifles and machine guns, and our vast gains in material treasure. We are, at least, three times as strong as we were six months ago. Every tribe in Western Morocco has joined us except one—that is Raisuli's tribe, the Beni Areus, which we are now preparing to conquer by force."

[Raisuli was captured six days later, and is now on his way to Ait Kamara, under heavy guard, as prisoner of the Sultan (Abd el Krim).]

MINERAL WEALTH.

Abd el Krim concluded with an earnest appeal for justice against the many calumnies circulated against the Riff Government. He spoke briefly of the mineral wealth hidden in his mountains, and expressed the hope that English and American capital would be able to enter the Riff within the coming year.

"The future of our country is unlimited," he declared. "We have confidence in peace as well as in war, and we ask the outside world, in the name of justice, to give us our opportunity. If the world will not give us peace now, we shall fight until we have conquered it by our swords and the will of Allah."

The White Star steamer Cedric, from New York, with mails and passengers for Liverpool, via Queenstown, was reported by Marconi 310 miles west of the Fastnet at 1.30 a.m. yesterday. She is due to arrive at Queenstown at 6 a.m. to-morrow.

ENTOMBED FOR A WEEK.

DESPERATE RESCUE EFFORTS.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
NEW YORK, Friday.

Latest messages from Cape Town, Kentucky, report that Mr. Floyd Collins, who a week ago to-day was entrapped in the famous mammoth cave by a fall of rock, is still alive. He is, however, completely cut off from the outside world, and, though the rescue operations are being continued on an extended scale, there is a growing fear that he may die from hunger or suffocation.

It is known that Mr. Collins is already desperately ill.

A gang of 75 men have begun the drilling of a shaft from the top of the hill over the cave, and elaborate arrangements have been made to give the entombed man medical and other assistance if the efforts to rescue him prove successful.

SHOTS AT A DUCHESS.

SCENE IN A PARIS STREET.

PARIS, Friday.

The peace of the aristocratic quarter of St. Germain was disturbed this morning when six revolver shots were fired as the Duchess of Albufere was driving a pony and trap to her home. Three shots hit the Duchess, who, with perfect self-control, handed the reins to the groom, telling him to mind the pony.

The assailant, who was caught after a hot pursuit, was found to be a former tenant, whom the Duchess had evicted for non-payment of rent, and who was now seeking revenge. The Duchess's life is reported to be in no danger.—(Reuter.)

THE TAUNGS SKULL.

PROFESSOR DART'S VIEW OF ITS AGE.

CAPE TOWN, Friday.

With reference to the discovery of the skull of a man-like ape at Taungs, in Bechuanaland, Professor Dart, of the Witwatersrand University, said to-day:—"The most definite thing we can say today is that the type is an ancestral one, which, as Professor Elliot Smith has stated, is intermediate between the gorilla and Pithecanthropus, 'the Java ape-man.' Consequently, it is reasonable to assume that it lived before the Pithecanthropus, and the age of that has been assessed at half a million years."

"The only way," continued Professor Dart, "of arriving at the age of the fossil was by calculating the succession of strata. The Taungs deposit was of such a nature, however, that the study of the succession of the strata was extraordinarily difficult. We are not so positive when the actual lime cliff was formed, although it probably occurred some time in the Tertiary period.—(Reuter.)

FIRES OF WELCOME FOR ROTOR SHIP.

PROGRESS OF VOYAGE TO SCOTLAND.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
KIEL, Friday Night.

The Flettner wind-power ship, Buckau, which is on a voyage from Dantzig to Leith, was sighted this forenoon in the Baltic. The weather was wet and somewhat squally. The boat appeared to be going at a comfortable speed towards the island of Ruegen, which it is likely to pass during the night.

When, as expected, the rotor ship anchors in the Bight of Kiel to-morrow afternoon, the first, but more difficult stage of its journey to Scotland will be completed. The real test of its behaviour is provided, not by the tideless and usually placid Baltic, but by the North Sea, which it will enter near Cuxhaven.

Reports that stormy weather is likely in the North Sea this week-end has given some anxiety to the local Press, which talks expansively of this latest example of German enterprise and inventiveness. Although the ship is well out to sea, several fires of welcome were lighted to-night by groups of fishermen on the level shores of Pomerania.

After leaving Dantzig last night the ship's auxiliary motor apparently stopped, rotor power alone driving it forward. The exact proportion of rotor and motor power used in crossing will doubtless be a point on which the British experts will want enlightenment before finally passing judgment on the claims made for the ship.

LIQUOR OFFENDERS RELEASED.

MR. ROOS TO REVISE LAW.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
CAPE TOWN, Friday.

Mr. Tielman Roos, the Minister of Justice, has suddenly cleared the Union jails of all prisoners sentenced before December 31st to three months' imprisonment, and of all liquor law offenders whose sentences would nominally expire in six months. Over 700 prisoners have been freed already. Mr. Roos declares that he wants to give these people another chance.

It is known that Mr. Roos disapproves of the present heavy penalties for liquor selling offences, and contemplates a revision of the law. The order has greatly discouraged the special section of South African police, which deals with illicit liquor selling, often at considerable personal risk. Only the lowest European types engage in this traffic. There is a great public outcry against the unexpected flooding of towns with criminals.

The police were not officially informed of the order, which apparently was sent direct to the prison superintendents, and several of the released men were re-arrested, the police believing that they had escaped.

TOBACCO INDUSTRY.

AMERICAN SENATOR'S CHARGE.

WASHINGTON, Friday.

Senator Ernst, of Kentucky, to-day proposed a resolution authorising the Federal Trade Commission to investigate an alleged agreement between the American Tobacco Company of the United States and the Imperial Tobacco Company of Great Britain.

Senator Ernst declared that the two companies had restricted sales in their respective countries, and were "boycotting and destroying co-operative tobacco associations here."

Under an objection by Senator Bruce, consideration of the resolution was postponed.

FOX-TRAPPING.

ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY'S SUGGESTION.

On the subject of the trapping of foxes in Ireland, the Agricultural Committee of the Royal Dublin Society last Thursday unanimously adopted the following resolution, copies of which were ordered to be sent to the Irish Masters of Foxhounds' Association and the Minister for Justice, as well as to the Press:—

"The Committee of Agriculture view with alarm the reports appearing in the public Press regarding the indiscriminate destruction of foxes in Ireland, which, if allowed to continue, must inevitably result in ruining an industry of national importance—viz., hunter breeding—which the Society has done so much in the past to foster and develop, and for which the country has a world-wide fame.

"In addition to being a source of considerable revenue, foxhunting is a form of sport that appeals to all classes of the community, and anything that seriously interferes with its legitimate practice must be generally deprecated.

"The Committee would, therefore suggest that a Committee, consisting of two members nominated by the Irish Masters of Foxhounds' Association, two members nominated by the Minister for Justice and two members nominated by the Royal Dublin Society, be appointed to consider the situation and advise as to what steps should be taken to safeguard the national interests."

The resolution was moved by the Chairman of the Committee, Mr. Justice Wylie.

GUINNESS INTERIM.

DIVIDEND DOUBLED.

The directors of Arthur Guinness, Son and Company yesterday declared an interim dividend of 12 per cent. actual, free of tax (24s. per £10 unit of Stock) as compared with 6 per cent. actual (12s. per £10 unit of Stock), tax free, this time last year.

At the meeting in August last, Lord Iveagh (Chairman) said that the directors had in mind the disproportion existing between the interim and final distributions, and they would consider the advisability of adjusting the difference so that the two distributions might be more equal in amount. For the whole of 1923-24 the company paid 26 per cent., of which 12 per cent. was declared as a bonus.

PERISHABLE GOODS FOR EXPORT.

PROPOSED FAST SERVICE TO LONDON.

At a meeting of Enniscorthy Executive of the Farmers' Union, Colonel C. M. Gibbon, Sleedagh, said that the Union was obtaining a reduction in rail rates for live stock.

Negotiations were proceeding for the establishment of a fast service to London for perishable goods. The main question was whether the county could provide sufficient bulk each day which would enable the railway company to run a daily goods train. The load needed was twenty tons, which would be run direct to Smithfield. A consignment which now costs 9s. 3d. would then be sent for 5s. 6d.

Everyone was aware of the scandalous way in which cattle are at present shipped and handled. He knew of this only too well, as he had often to shoot cattle which were maimed. If a sufficiently large export could be got from the south-east of Ireland the Farmers' Union could have a special boat run.

POLITICAL NOTES.

THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT BILL.

Having disposed of the Committee stage of the Local Government Bill, the Senate yesterday adjourned until next Wednesday week. Much time has yet to be devoted to the consideration of the bill before it reaches the Statute Book. Several amendments have been adopted by the Senate, and these are likely to cause long discussion in the Dail.

When the Senate meets again it probably will have before it the Police Forces Amalgamation Bill, the Committee stage of which has already been passed by the Dail. The Minister of Justice hopes to have the measure in operation as from 1st April, the beginning of the financial year.

Recruiting for the Dublin Metropolitan police force ceased a couple of months ago, and from 1st April recruiting will be only for the Civic Guard.

An application, sponsored by Mr. Davin, T.D., was recently made to the Minister of Finance for a grant for a waterworks and sewerage scheme for Rathdowney, Leix. In a letter, addressed to Mr. Davin, the Minister states that he has agreed to make a grant from the Relief Schemes Vote of a sum equal to two-thirds of the estimated expenditure, subject to a maximum of £12,466.

Tenders have already been invited from contractors for the carrying out of the work, and the tenders will be considered at a special meeting of the Abbeyleix Rural District Council on the 10th inst., after which it is expected that the work will commence at once, and will give employment to between 150 and 200 men. The Local Government Department has also authorised the holding of an inquiry by their chief engineering inspector, Mr. O'Dwyer, on Tuesday next. Any expenditure over and above the figure of £12,466 will be a charge upon the local rates, and will be raised by a loan for an extended period, to be sanctioned by the Local Government Department.

Yesterday an influential deputation from the motor trade interviewed Mr. Blythe with reference to his Budget proposals in so far as they affect the motor trade. It is understood that the deputation pressed the Minister for a modification of the present import duty.

FEBRUARY FILL-DITCH.

SLEET AND SNOW SQUALLS.

Squalls from westerly to north-westerly directions, accompanied in the afternoon and evening by showers of hail and sleet, caused a sharp drop in the temperature yesterday.

Snow fell heavily in North Wales yesterday afternoon, and the mountains are thickly covered. A snowstorm prevailed in the East of Scotland, and the ground in some districts is covered to a depth of two inches.

Unusually large flakes of "wet" snow fell in Dublin early this morning, but did not settle. A continuance of cold, squally weather is forecasted.

DISTRESS IN THE WEST.

AN ENGLISH LADY'S DESCRIPTION.

RELIEF EFFORTS.

FUND BEING RAISED IN LONDON.

Some of the conditions under which the people in the famine-stricken areas of the West of Ireland are living were described to a Press Association representative in London yesterday by Miss Cecilia John, of the Overseas Department of the "Save the Children Fund," who has just returned from a tour of the outlying districts of the Clifden division of Connemara. She was accompanied on her tour by Dr. Casey, Medical Dispensary Officer for the Clifden and Inishboffin districts of the West of Ireland.

Acting upon the suggestion of the Free State Government, the English "Save the Children Fund" proposes to enlarge its relief action, and is taking the town and neighbourhood of Clifden-Connemara as its special place of activity. It is opening its office at Clifden early next week, and its two chief initial operations will be the distribution of milk and clothes.

MISS JOHN'S IMPRESSIONS

AN APPEAL TO THE BRITISH PUBLIC.

"I saw quite enough of the conditions to fill me with horror," said Miss John. "Amongst the people with small uneconomic holdings, the distress is appalling. In normal times these people are very poor, but usually they can eke out an existence by growing a few potatoes, and, perhaps, rearing a pig, or sometimes they are able to keep a cow. This year they have no potatoes, and they have no fuel because of the wet season. Therefore, they are practically without heat or food, and are finding themselves absolutely destitute.

"I went into some of the poorer houses, which are merely stone enclosures. In many cases the earth flooring was soaking with wet, and the places were not fit even to keep cattle in. It is said that in a good season they are able to keep the floors fairly dry by burning turf fuel."

Miss John described how she had visited one of these "hovels" to find that it was occupied by a family of nine. She found five children in this house apparently in the care of an epileptic girl of ten years of age. The "bedroom" was divided off from the rest of the place by a few rags hanging from a string, behind which were two fixtures made against the walls and covered with straw, which served as beds. On the ground amongst the straw which had fallen from the so-called beds a hen was scratching for a meal. On the other side of the central space, or living room, was another screen of hanging rags. Behind this there were two more beds covered with two heaps of rags.

"I noticed one of these heaps moved slightly," said Miss John, "and found it covered an old woman of eighty, the grandmother of the family. I was unable to see her head, and her body was too thin to be outlined under the rags. She was just waiting to be relieved by death."

"Later," Miss John went on, "we visited the National school in Clifden—a girls' school, with about 144 pupils, which is in charge of the Sisters of Mercy. The Reverend Mother pleaded with us for clothes and boots, and, if possible, blankets. She told me that the Government had promised to feed the children in the school, but they had not yet commenced, and she was hoping every day that news would come of the Government's intention to start the feeding."

In conclusion, Miss John spoke of the efforts which had already been made by the Free State Government to alleviate the distress. It had, she said, already voted a quarter of a million for feeding children in the schools. An emergency Relief Committee had also been formed in Dublin, which combined the United Irishwomen and the Lady Dudley Nursing Scheme, under the chairmanship of Mr. W. R. Wigham.

"The 'Save the Children' Fund is definitely going to the assistance of these people," she added, "but it all depends on the response of the British public as to the extent of the work."

Miss Eglantyne Jebb, the founder of the "Save the Children" Fund, later told a Press Association representative that the fund was giving help in 29 different countries, but she thought that the Irish need had a very special claim upon the British public.

"The Irish 'Save the Children' Fund is doing its very best," she added, "and we feel that this is an opportunity for close cooperation between the English and the Irish, and by this close co-operation we can do something of permanent good."

DISTRESS IN THE WEST.

THE JUBILEE NURSES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—It has been brought to our notice that our recent appeals, first for the Endowment Fund of the Queen Victoria Jubilee Institute for Nurses, and, secondly, for the relief of the distress in the West carried out by the Jubilee Nurses working under Lady Dudley's scheme, have created a confusion in the mind of the public. We are anxious to make it clear that our joint work is composed of two committees under one organisation. Twenty-five Q.V.J.I. Nurses are partially maintained by a fund raised by the late Rachel Lady Dudley. They are managed by a committee in Dublin, because, in the isolated districts where they work, there is no possibility of forming local committees of management or of raising funds.

The supposition that we are two independent organisations is harmful to both, as our work is one and the same, only differing in the fact that twenty-five nurses are managed from Dublin and the others by local direction.
—Yours, etc.,

ELIZABETH KENMARE, President, Q.V.J.I. for Nurses, Irish Branch.

GERALDINE MAYO, President, Lady Dudley's Scheme for supplying Q.V.J.I. Nurses in the poorest parts of Ireland.

Dublin, February 6th, 1925.

DUBLIN STREET SCENE.

"SUSPECT" CHASED BY BANK OFFICIALS.

Some excitement was caused in Thomas street, Dublin, yesterday morning, when a man was seen running out of the Hibernian Bank branch offices there, pursued by bank officials.

Shortly after the bank opened a man entered and presented a cheque drawn on the account of a local trader. The cashier was not satisfied that the matter was in order, and, accordingly, did not cash the cheque, but asked the man to step into the manager's office.

The trader was sent for, and on his arrival the "suspect" bolted out of the building. He ran through the side streets, with several bank officials at his heels. A crowd took up the chase, but the man got away, "disappearing" in Capel street.

AMAZON EXPLORERS' MESSAGE

RECEIVED ON RADIO SET IN SURREY.

At half-past six o'clock yesterday morning Mr. Gerald Marcuse, an amateur wireless operator of Caterham, Surrey, while speaking in Morse code to American stations, "picked up" the operator with the Dr. Hamilton Rice expedition which is going up the River Amazon. The operator with the expedition gave him a message for the Royal Geographical Society, which stated that the expedition arrived at the junction of the Rivers Urari and Uricatara on January 19th. Progress was slow owing to the extremely difficult conditions of the country. They are unable to use the hydroplane at present, but the object of the expedition had been obtained. All were well.

Mr. Marcus delivered the message to the Royal Geographical Society yesterday, and it was stated that this was the first time that any details of the expedition had been received in Europe. Last night he received the following message from the Royal Geographical Society, which he is to endeavour to transmit early this morning:—

"To Hamilton Rice—Delighted to receive to-day, by courtesy of Mr. Marcus, first message ever transmitted by radio to this Society from expedition in field. Cordial congratulations on great progress recorded. Your letter of November 10 just received. We wish your expedition complete success.—(Signed) Secretary, Royal Geographical Society."

The distance between this country and the expedition is reckoned to be about seven thousand miles.

VIOLENT DECLINE IN WHEAT.

PROPOSED CONGRESSIONAL INQUIRY.

CHICAGO, Friday.

Wheat opened higher to-day, then slumped violently, May contracts touching 1.85 on commission houses increasing their margins and causing stop-loss selling.

The decline was also ascribed to a proposed Congressional investigation; large receipts at primary points and weakness at Winnipeg were also factors.—(Reuter.)

TOWN LIT BY CANDLES.

CINEMAS CLOSED IN STALYBRIDGE.

Damage estimated at between thirty and forty thousand pounds was caused by the explosion and fire at the generator in Stalybridge (Cheshire) on Thursday morning.

The damage is being repaired as quickly as possible.

A skeleton tramway service was run yesterday, but last night there was little public lighting, the shopkeepers depending on oil lamps and candles.

Doctors examined patients, dentists drew teeth, and barbers shaved people with only dim illumination. The evening education classes were abandoned, and cinemas were closed.

RAILWAY DEADLOCK.

MEN'S CONFERENCE ADJOURNED.

Summoned by telephone, the Executive of the National Union of Railwaymen were in conference in London all day yesterday, and adjourned until this morning without arriving at any decision in regard to the deadlock created by the refusal of the companies to entertain the union's national programme and the presentation of the counter proposals.

It had been anticipated that the Executive would, as a matter of course, decide to refer their demands to the Central Wages Board, and, in the absence of any decision yesterday, it was thought that possibly other considerations might be engaging the attention of the Executive.

Mr. Cramp, the Industrial Secretary of the Union, who left the headquarters before the Executive adjourned last evening, is to make an important speech at Grantham to-morrow night.

DEAR LOAF IN FRANCE.

GOVERNMENT PROPOSALS APPROVED.

PARIS, Friday.

Following the hearing of interpellations in regard to the price of corn and bread, the Chamber adopted by 328 votes to 225 a resolution expressing confidence in the Government to take suitable measures to check the rise in the price of bread, and requesting it to ask Parliament immediately to pass a bill providing for—

(1) The declaration of stocks of corn.

(2) The direct purchase by the State of home-grown corn and the ultimate creation of corn reserves.

(3) The establishment of a national corn office.

M. Herriot announced that the Government would immediately introduce a bill dealing with this matter. The sitting was then adjourned until 9.30 p.m. On the resumption the Chamber will discuss a bill tending to facilitate the supply of breadstuffs to the population.—(Reuter.)

WAITING FOR THE END OF THE WORLD.

Thirty-five so-called "Seventh Day Adventists of America," obeying the orders of their leader, Robert Reidt, sold their goods and chattels the day before the recent eclipse of the sun, and gathered at East Patchogue, Long Island, to await the end of the world.

Reidt told them that the world would come to an end at midnight last night, and that, while they would go to Heaven, via California, everybody else would perish.

LATE NEWS.

AUSTRIA'S PROBLEM.

HER REAL NEED.

The Times, in a leading article on "The Convalescence of Austria," says:—Austria is again throwing out vague, inconsistent and inconsequent reminders that the European settlement is not yet complete. The present position of the little Austrian Republic may not be so bad as some pessimists would have us believe, but it is not nearly so good as the advocates of the League scheme of reconstruction hoped that it would have been by now.

What is the trouble with Austria? The League has done good work for her. She is convalescent, but she is in a state of perplexing lassitude. She has not attained the necessary energy and buoyancy. She has not acquired that initiative, that independent activity which would enable the rest of the world to discard all further care and anxiety on her behalf. She is again a problem. She is falling back on the hands of those who tried to help her. The scheme has been pushed through, but the Budget, in spite of economies and reforms, shows a persistent deficit.

What Austria needs is a freer and more intimate association with the surrounding peoples. The old order is gone, and cannot be restored. It cannot come back under any disguise. The idea of a Danubian Federation is, at least, premature; but the economic relationships that promoted the internal prosperity of the old Austro-Hungarian Empire were not artificial. They correspond to the natural distribution of economic resources in the wide area now divided among independent States. Austria is shut off by high tariff walls from regions with which not long ago she carried on a free exchange of goods. These tariff walls represent to a large extent psychological barriers, which can only be gradually melted down as the fear of the old order passes.

DEALINGS IN WHEAT.

CAUSES OF THE FALL.

The New York Correspondent of The Times writes:—The price of May wheat at Chicago suffered a sharp decline to-day—the largest since the two-dollar level was reached. From the opening price of $1.93 per bushel, the May option rose to $1.94¾, but in the absence of speculative support it dropped to $1.85. The closing price was $1.86¼.

The report that the Government was about to investigate dealings in wheat and make public the names of speculators and their commitments seemed to play a considerable part in the weakness. The Director of the Government Bureau of Grain Administration in Chicago, Dr. Duvel, said to-day that only the Secretary of Agriculture was authorised to make such facts public, and then only where manipulation of the market had been proved. He declared that the rise of wheat to two dollars was not due to manipulation, but was clearly explained by the conditions of supply and demand.

OPERATIONS IN MOROCCO.

SPANISH SUCCESSES.

A fight ensued, and the enemy were driven back with a loss of four killed. Some arms, a large quantity of foodstuffs, and a number of transport mules were captured.

In the eastern section another native force, under a Spanish officer, raided enemy territory, and surprised and dispersed an enemy concentration. Some tribesmen were killed, and arms were left in the hands of the attackers.

ROTOR AEROPLANE.

AUSTRIAN ENGINEER'S CLAIM.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
PARIS, Friday.

The successful adaptation of the rotor to the aeroplane is claimed to have been accomplished by an Austrian engineer, who has arrived in Paris to obtain financial help to exploit his invention. With £1,000, and his machine once built, he says, he will compete for the Orteig Prize, of 25,000 dollars, for the first Paris to New York non-stop flight. Herr Gligorin, the inventor, is a graduate of Vienna University, and for several years he has been connected with various Austrian and Hungarian aeroplane firms, from whom he brings credentials, and he is a qualified pilot.

"My invention," he tells the New York Herald, "is a combined propeller and rotor-driven 'plane, and is an application to air travel of the Flettner principle."

Herr Gligorin says that he believes that he can make the flight to New York in less than twelve hours. He claims that his model when tested at Vienna showed that it could travel at over three hundred miles an hour with only a 120 horse-power motor and could reach a height of 3,000 feet within two minutes. He is submitting his ideas to the Government Advisory Committee on Aeronautics.

NO AGREEMENT ON OPIUM-SMOKING.

AMERICAN DELEGATION LEAVES GENEVA.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.
FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
GENEVA, Friday.

A dramatic turn has been given to the proceedings of the International Opium Conference by the withdrawal of the United States delegation at the moment when the Convention of Drug Traffic had been completed and was about to be presented for approval. The American decision is due to the failure to come to an agreement on the subject of opium-smoking in the Far East. The United States will not abandon international co-operation, by which means alone the world-wide traffic in drugs can be suppressed, but the delegation believes that greater strides can be taken on the basis of The Hague Convention. The Americans are leaving Geneva to-morrow morning and will take the first boat home.

DONEGAL TRAIN SMASH.

DRIVER DESCRIBES THE ACCIDENT.

A GREAT GUST OF WIND.

JURY'S OPINION OF THE VIADUCT.

The inquest on the three victims of the railway accident in Donegal on the 30th ultimo, when a train running between Londonderry and Burtonport was blown off the rails while crossing Owencarrow viaduct, was resumed at Creeslough yesterday, and the jury found that death in every case was due to the injuries received. They added, as a rider, their unanimous opinion that if a properly-constructed rail had been carried along the whole length of the viaduct, no lives would have been lost

GOVERNMENT'S DESIRE

TO ELICIT ALL THE FACTS.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.
LONDONDERRY, Friday.

The names of the victims are Mrs. Phillip Boyle, Neal Duggan and Mrs. Una Mulligan. The inquest was held in Mr. Charles Bradley's publichouse, and the Coroner, Dr. J. P. McGinley, had as assessor Mr. P. N. Batchen, Engineer from the Free State Ministry of Industry and Commerce.

Mr. J. A. Costello (instructed by Mr. W. T. McMenamin, State Solicitor) appeared on behalf of the Free State Government; Mr. John Tracey for the Derry and Lough Swilly Railway Company; Mr. William Kelly for the next-of-kin of Mrs. Boyle; Mr. J. P. Ward for the next-of-kin of Neil Duggan and Mrs. Mulligan; Mr. A. J. Aiken appeared for Neil Boyle, guard of the train; and the Civic Guard were represented by Chief Superintendent Keegan, Letterkenny, and Superintndent Allen, Dungloe.

Mr. Hunt, manager of the railway, was present, as were Mr. Squance, Doncaster, Organising Secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen; and Mr. Ingram, Secretary to the Ministry of Industry and Commerce, Dublin.

Mr. Costello, at the outset, said that the Government viewed with very grave concern this lamentable accident. He had been directed by the Attorney-General to attend there in the public interest, not as representing any class or any individual, in order to see that the full facts were elicited and put before the jury, so that they would be in a position to discharge not alone their primary duty of ascertaining the cause of deaths, but also, if they saw fit and if the evidence justified it, to apportion blame to any person upon whom blame lay in their opinion, and, further, to see if it was possible to take any measures to ensure that such a dreadful occurrence did not happen again.

He mentioned that Mr. Batchen, an experienced engineer and one familiar with railway construction, had been appointed, at the request of the Coroner, to act with him under the provisions of the recent Railways Act in the Saorstat. The authorities courted the fullest enquiry, and invited any persons who could throw light on it to give evidence, so that the matter should be probed to the bottom, and no stone left unturned to ascertain causes of the accident. On behalf of the Government and the Attorney-General, he expressed sympathy with the relatives of the dead and with the injured.

DRIVER'S EVIDENCE.

Robert McGuinness, driver of the ill-fated train, said that he was twenty-five years in the service of the company, and was for twenty years a driver. He was on the Burtonport extension for thirteen years, and knew the lay out of the line. The train, on the evening of the accident, consisted of one waggon, two carriages, and a combined van. He left Kilmacrennan Station at fifty-two minutes past seven, being then five minutes late. He observed nothing unusual approaching the viaduct. It was a very stormy night.

Mr. Costello—Did you notice that the storm was bad on the other parts of the line?

LEFT POWERLESS.

Witness—It was not so bad along the road. The witness added that before reaching the viaduct he was travelling at twenty-four to twenty-five miles per hour. Entering the viaduct speed was reduced to ten or twelve miles an hour, and he actually crossed the viaduct at eight to ten miles an hour. His instructions were not to exceed ten miles on the viaduct. The brakes and machinery were in good working order.

Mr. Costello—Are you familiar with the viaduct and know that it is dangerous.

The witness said that he was, and proceeded to describe what occurred. On entering the viaduct he looked back and saw that the train was all right, and after going on sixty yards he again looked back, and there was nothing wrong. There was a very heavy gale blowing. After travelling a bit farther, and as he was in the act of putting on steam, he again looked back.

Coroner—You were going to increase speed?

Witness—Yes.

Answering Mr. Costello, the witness said that he then saw the carriage next to the engine rising off the rails—it was being blown off. He applied the vacuum brake and stopped the train. On going back he found the carriages lying down. The back carriage, which had been lifted off, carried the wagons half-way over the wall of the bridge. The other carriage was lying over the embankment, the covered wagon was lying over the coping, and the six-wheeled passenger carriage was tumbled upside down. Having extricated the guard, they started to rescue the passengers and sent the fireman, Hanaghan, for assistance.

Asked by Mr. Costello if there was anything unusual in the storm that would cause the coach to go over, the witness said that there was a great gust of wind all at once at the part where the coach was blown off. The wind, he added, all came at once, and we were left powerless.

Mr. Kelly—What caused you to look round entering the viaduct?

Witness—It is a practice that we have to see that the train is following.

Further cross-examined, the witness said that he brought the train to a standstill in the length of a carriage. The coach that was blown over was not dragged along the line. This carriage struck the coping of the bridge, but he could not say how far that was from where the carriage was lifted by the wind.

Mr. Kelly—The carriage must have been dragged some distance?

Mr. Ward—What did you mean when you said that the viaduct was dangerous?

Witness—I did not say so.

Mr. Ward—You have said so; what do you mean?

Witness—It is dangerous to cross on a stormy night at a hard rate, but we did not cross at a hard rate.

Mr. Ward—If it is sworn here that you crossed at a rate much greater than you say would you correct that?

Witness—Certainly I would.

Mr. Ward—You did not think that the quicker you got over the better?

Witness—No, I did not.

Further cross-examined, the witness said that there was no speedometer on the train. It would be untrue to say that he was going at a greater speed than ten miles an hour. He had no apprehension when looking back, but he happened to do so at the psychological moment.

To Mr. Squance—The five minutes' delay was due to a traffic delay at Letterkenny.

Mr. Kelly objected to Mr. Squance asking questions.

Mr. Costello said that if there was any objection to Mr. Squance, the questions could be put through him as representing the public.

Mr. Tracey said that the solicitors, having made their protest, were satisfied. This, however, was not to be taken as a precedent.

CARRIAGE IN THE AIR.

John Hannigan, the fireman, said that it was a stormy night, but he did not notice anything unusual in it. He saw the carriage rising in the air and said to the driver, "There's harm done to-night."

Replying to Mr. Ward, the witness said that he did not think the line dangerous.

Mr. Ward—Would you not think it more dangerous than other parts after this accident?

Witness—I should think it was. He added that if there had been a parapet the whole way along the viaduct the people would not have been thrown out.

OTHER RAILWAY WITNESSES.

Neal Boyle, the guard, said that the first that he knew of the accident was when his van was blown over. He did not feel any shock from the carriage that was first lifted off the rails. He had not time to apply the brakes. What saved his van from going down the embankment was the railing.

To Mr. Ward—He thought that the carriage that went over would have been held up if there had been railings. After the accident the witness crept down the slope and made the passengers sit down in shelter, otherwise they would have been blown over.

Joseph Wilkie, carriage examiner, said that the coaches were all right at Letterkenny.

Charles Murray, ganger, said that on the morning after the accident the gauge was all right. After the accident in 1908 a smooth rail was put on the viaduct, but the portion where there was not a railing was not interfered with.

PASSENGERS' EVIDENCE.

Mrs. Hannah Sweeney, Beltony, said that she was in a carriage with her sister and three others. She did not notice anything unusual that night. She lay in the upturned carriage for an hour after the accident until someone broke the window and took her out. No one was injured in their carriage, except one woman, who cut her hand in breaking the window.

Philip Boyle, whose father and mother were killed, said that the train was wobbling backwards and forwards immediately before the accident. He thought that there was something wrong, and was frightened. He did not remember anything after the carriage heeled over.

Dr. Coll said he found a boulder on Mrs. Mulligan's face and one on Mr. Boyle's chest. He had the boulders removed and found life extinct. Death in all three cases was due to fracture of the base of the skull and other injuries.

Neal Dougan, son of one of the deceased persons, said that he was going to meet his father at the station, and saw the train going over the viaduct. It was going at faster speed than ever before. He saw it suddenly stopping, and on going to the scene found his father dying.

Mr. Kelly and Mr. Ward, for the next-of-kin, urged that the storm was not an extraordinary one. If due precautions had been taken by the railway company no lives would have been lost.

Mr. Tracy, for the railway company, said that this line was not constructed by the Swilly Company and they were not responsible for any defect, if such existed. The line had been passed by the Board of Trade Inspector and fifty thousand trains had passed over it without mishap. There never had been any suggestion that the viaduct was unsafe. It was generally acknowledged that the accident was due to a gust of wind.

THE VERDICT.

The jury returned a verdict that the deaths of Neil Dougan, Una Mulligan, and Philip Boyle were due to the injuries detailed in the medical evidence, and added a rider—"We are unanimously of opinion that if a properly-protected rail had been carried along the whole length of the viaduct, from cutting to cutting, and without any intervening gap, no lives would have been lost. We are of opinion also that the driver, fireman, and guard were not in any way to blame. We recommend that the Government and the railway company should take into consideration the distress caused by the calamity, and try to relieve, as far as possible, the loss occasioned to the relatives of the deceased and the injured."

The jury expressed appreciation of the brave action of James McFadden, of Kilfad, in rescuing, at great personal danger, two women from a perilous position in one of the derailed and suspended carriages. He was greatly assisted by Patrick McFadden, of Terline. They considered such bravery worthy of favourable consideration by the authorities.

CLONMEL AND TOURIST TRAFFIC.

DECISION TO STRIKE A RATE.

A deputation, consisting of Messrs. J. L. O'Brien, Ormonde Hotel; H. M. Henderson, William Condon, F. Rocker, and B. J. Long, waited on the Clonmel Corporation, and asked them to strike a rate for the purpose of advertising the attractions of Clonmel and district as a tourist resort.

Mr. O'Brien, in his address to the Corporation, said that Clonmel offered more substantial inducements to visitors than many other well advertised places, and it was high time to put Clonmel's claims to a share of the tourist traffic before the public. Clonmel was the centre of a magnificent country, and was well equipped with hotels and motor transport. It was noted for its beauty spots and its kindly hospitality.

The Corporation unanimously agreed to strike a penny rate, to be applied in advertising Clonmel.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT BILL.

TALK OF "INEQUALITY" AND "ANOTHER PARTITION."

Manorhamilton (Co. Leitrim) Rural Council last Thursday decided to request the Local Government Department to explain why the City and County of Dublin was excluded from the Local Government Bill at present before the Dáil.

Arising out of a circular from the Department advising the Council to postpone the local elections pending a decision on the bill, which provided for the abolition of rural district councils in the provinces, the following dialogue took place:—

The Clerk—It seems strange that Dublin, one of the smallest counties in the Saorstát, should be excluded from the scope of the bill.

Mr. James Sweeney—The rural councils are as useful, and more useful, in the provinces than in Dublin.

Mr. Hagan—Dublin will not allow them. The Government cannot walk over Dublin like the rest of the country.

Mr. Kerrigan—It seems so. Perhaps they will not be so long in it themselves.

The Clerk—The law should apply equally at least to the twenty-six counties, and not have another partition. The Government should be asked to explain why Dublin was excluded from the bill.

Mr. McGivney—It should be put up straight to them. An order was made requesting the Local Government Department to explain why Dublin—one of the smallest counties in Ireland—was excluded from the bill.

RUM-RUNNER'S DEVICE.

SUBMERGED CYLINDER OF LIQUOR.

OSLO (By Mail).

Norwegian Customs officers have discovered an ingenious invention whereby smugglers operating off the coasts of Norway have been successful in getting large quantities of liquor into the country. The device, which is known to the smugglers as "the corkscrew," consists of a long, torpedo-shaped iron cylinder, capable of holding a hundred cans of liquor, and is towed at some distance astern of the smuggling vessel by a thin cable. The weighting of the cylinder is so arranged that it remains hidden below the surface of the water. A ship engaged in rum-running can thus be searched and nothing illicit found on board, and, in an emergency, the cylinder can always be cast loose.—(Reuter.)

OBITUARY.

DR. E. COYLE.

Dr. E. Coyle, a well-known member of the medical profession, has died at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Belfast. Dr. Coyle had made a special study of nervous diseases. His leisure was devoted to literary study, and he was an accomplished writer of verse.

MR. JOHN JOHNSTON.

Mr. John Johnston, J.P., who died yesterday at his residence, Edenordinary, Banbridge, was a prominent figure in the linen trade of County Down. He was born in 1836. He served his apprenticeship with the late Mr. Christopher M'Caw. When only twenty-five years old he entered business on his own account, and so sound was his judgment that his new undertaking was successful from the outset. Mr. Johnston took an active interest in public affairs, had been a member of the Banbridge Board of Guardians since 1877, and for many years he was a member of the Down County Council and the Banbridge Rural District Council.

BELFAST EVICTIONS.

EIGHT HOUSES CLOSED.

The occupants of eight houses in May street, Belfast, were evicted yesterday morning. During the troubles in December, 1920, Roman Catholic families who were compelled to leave their homes in Lisburn and parts of Belfast took possession of the houses, which were vacant, and the majority of them continued to live there for the past four years without paying either rent or taxes.

The houses were greatly over-crowded and in a bad state of repair, while the sanitary conditions were far from perfect. The landlord has abandoned the idea of repairing them, and the houses will be demolished.

Some of the tenants packed their belongings, and quietly moved out, but several families remained to the last, and the bailiffs put their chattels on the streets. Lorries arrived to remove these articles, and, apparently, arrangements had been made to accommodate the evicted persons elsewhere.

AN EXECUTOR'S DUTY.

THE ADMINISTRATION OF AN ESTATE.

In the Northern Chancery Division in Belfast yesterday, before Mr. Justice Wilson, the hearing was continued of the action in which Pauline Weiner sued George Weiner and Robert Johnston, as executors of the late Samuel Weiner, to have the personal estate of the deceased administered and the trusts of the will carried into execution under the direction of the court. Samuel Weiner, who died in December, 1907, left each of his four children a legacy of £200. The legacies had been paid to all but the plaintiff, and she now sought to enforce it. Robert Johnson (the defendant) pleaded that there was not, now, and never had been, any estate or effects of Samuel Weiner available for the plaintiff's legacy, and that he had fully administered all the personal estate and effects that had come to his hands. All the parties reside in Belfast.

Mr. Porter, on behalf of Mr. Johnston, submitted that he had not been guilty of any wilful default. Was it not a reasonable thing for the defendant to leave the whole business to the brother and the widow of the deceased man? Mr. Johnson never handled a penny of the estate, and a lot of things were done about which he knew nothing. The only thing against him was that he had not actively assisted in the administration of the estate.

Mr. Justice Wilson said that the gravamen of the case was that the executor was aware of documents which brought home to his mind that his co-executor was a debtor of the estate. If one executor knew that another executor owed money to the estate he was guilty of default if he did not endeavour to get that money in.

Mr. Ellison, for the plaintiff, contended that the defendants in the first place were guilty of wilful default, and that, apart from that, Mr. Johnston was guilty of breaches of trust.

His Lordship—Supposing that I find that the co-executor, George Weiner, is liable to make good the legacy do you want me to make an order to that effect?

Mr. Ellison—We do, my lord.

His Lordship—I have not looked into that point in the absence of the assignee in bankruptcy. Let me know what form of judgment you want against George Weiner.

Judgment was reserved.

CLAIMS OF SOUTHERN IRISH LOYALISTS.

PROPOSED APPEAL TO PARLIAMENT.

The Committee of the Irish Claims Compensation Association has arranged for a general meeting of members of the Association to be held at Caxton Hall, London, on Tuesday, February 24th, at three o'clock, to consider what action should be taken on behalf of the large number of Irish loyalists who have been deprived of compensation for malicious injuries, or who are unable to obtain payment in respect of decrees granted by the Courts in Ireland.

A proposal will be put forward to make an appeal to Parliament on behalf of the sufferers.

Admission to the meeting will be by card, which every member of the Association will receive. Southern Irish loyalists, or their friends, who are not subscribing members of the Association, will be welcomed, and are requested to apply for admission cards before February 15th, to the Secretary, The Irish Claims Compensation Association, Lennox House, Norfolk street, Strand, London, W.C. 2.

ECLIPSE OF THE MOON.

FAVOURABLE TIME FOR OBSERVATION.

THE eclipse of the moon that will occur to-morrow is the only one that will be visible in our part of the world in 1925. It will happen at an hour very favourable for observation, beginning about 8 o'clock in the evening; but the moon will enter the penumbra considerably earlier at 6.48. There is another lunar eclipse in the present year on August 4, but as it will occur about noon it can only be observed from the other side of the earth.

The circumstances of an eclipse of the moon are more easily calculated than those in the case of the sun; yet it is rather curious that lunar eclipses were a source of greater mystery to the ancients than solar. The Athenians at the time of the Peloponnesian War understood what caused eclipses of the sun, but they regarded eclipses of the moon with superstitious dread, which led to the destruction of the Sicilian expedition and its commander, Nicias. They found that solar eclipses happened when the moon was "new," or in conjunction, and so explained their occurrence as due to the intervention of the dark body of the moon between the earth and sun.

Eclipses of the moon, however, did not admit of this explanation; but the fact that the moon suffered eclipse only when in opposition must have gradually led them to a solution of their difficulty. The moon, revolving round the earth, if it encountered the earth's shadow, as would be the case if at or near a node when in opposition to the sun, would be deprived of her borrowed light. In other words, an eclipse of the moon would be produced by the interposition of the earth between the sun and moon.

The ancient Chaldæan astronomers discovered a very expeditious method of predicting eclipses that did not require any extensive knowledge of the mathematical intricacies of the problem. They found that, after a period of eighteen years and eleven days, eclipses recurred in the same order as before. This cycle is called the Saros, and is still of great importance and convenience in predicting these phenomena, even when calculations of a much more elaborate character are employed in working out the exact circumstances of an eclipse. The Saros furnished ancient astronomers with a ready means of ascertaining the date of an eclipse, but it was more useful in the case of the lunar than of the solar phenomena, the latter being confined to a small part of the earth's surface at a time owing to the comparative smallness of the conical shadow cast by the moon.

The mean length of the Chaldæan cycle is 18 years 11 days 7 hours and 43 minutes—it is one day less if there are five leap years in the interval—after which eclipses are repeated. It does not restore the original conditions of the phenomenon with perfect exactness, but it is possible to predict a series of eclipses by it extending over more than 800 years. Thus the eclipse of February 8 is a reproduction of a previous and similar lunar eclipse on January 29, 1907, which, however, was not visible at Greenwich, as it occurred about eight hours earlier in the day.

About three-quarters of the moon's disc will be obscured at the maximum phase to-morrow evening. The eclipse is, therefore, partial, and will appear so to observers from all parts of the earth's hemisphere which is turned towards the moon. Costly expeditions have been equipped and despatched (sometimes long in advance) to observe eclipses of the sun, but such extensive preparations are quite inessential in the case of our less exacting satellite. The astronomer may contemplate her obscuration just as well at home.

Solar eclipses are more frequent events than lunar; yet from a given point of view the reverse is the case when total eclipses are considered. In every decade several total eclipses of the moon are observed over the British Isles, but a total solar eclipse there is an extremely rare occurrence. The last total eclipse of the sun was observed in London in 1715, and, according to Halley, there had not been another visible there during the previous five hundred and seventy-five years—that is, since 1140. Yet total eclipses of the moon are almost annual events.

The conditions of observation, however, may not be very suitable. The moon may rise eclipsed, and sometimes she has been observed to set before totality has supervened. The ideal circumstances for the occurrence of the phenomenon are in the hours just preceding midnight. The moon is then high in the heavens, and the spectacle is of a most interesting character. Lunar eclipses are best observed under these conditions. Such eclipses occurred on October 4th, 1884, when the moon is said by some observers to have disappeared during totality; on December 27th, 1898; on April 11th, 1903, and on November 16th, 1910. These conditions will be partly realised in the eclipse on Sunday evening. At nine minutes past eight will occur first contact of the moon's eastern limb with the earth's shadow, which will slowly encroach on the bright surface until the maximum phase of darkness is reached at 9.42. The moon's western limb will emerge from the dark shadow at 11.15, but the penumbra will still hang round her until she gets clear of it at thirty-five minutes past midnight.

Meteors have sometimes been observed when the moon is in eclipse. Such circumstances are favourable for noting them. There is a maximum of this kind on the evening of February 8th, near 7.30, which thus takes place before the moon enters the umbra, but just about the time when she is half-way through the early penumbral phase.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY BOAT CLUB DANCE.

The Dublin University Boat Club dance, at the Metropole Restaurant, Dublin, last night was a successful and enjoyable function. ### A SORRY TRADE.

Miss A. M. F. Cole writes as follows:—

"My very grateful thanks are due to the Press that reported my speech about the export of horses for butchery. All through my long fight against this traffic, the Press has been my most powerful ally. At the Dublin Rotary Club I spoke fast, and there was some movement. This caused a slight misunderstanding on a few points. May I say here, again, what I always say—that there is hay on the boats, but that horses cannot eat in rough weather, and that, once landed, they often suffer torment of hunger and thirst before being killed?

"I know captains of boats and port veterinary inspectors, who do their utmost to prevent suffering to horses in this traffic. The Port Inspector at Antwerp, and the captain of the Général Leman, the boat which runs from Dublin to Antwerp, are of this number. But rough seas, hunger and thirst after landing, long journeying to death and cruel killing, are the main sufferings of this traffic. The blame is not with officials engaged in it on sea or land, but with those who sell old servants as cattle for foreign butchery, and with those who transport them for gain."

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Round Australia by Motor Cycle.—A motor cyclist who left Perth on October 1st on a round-Australia tour has arrived at Melbourne. He has already covered 6,500 miles.

Price of Flour.—The London Flour Millers' Association announce that the price of standard grade flour has been reduced by sixpence per sack of 280 pounds to 58s. in the London area, and 59s. in the country.

Newfoundland Seal Fishery.—Hoping to stimulate the revival of the seal fishery, which has declined in recent years, the Newfoundland Government is equipping the coastal steamers Prospero, Portia, and Glencoe, for the annual hunt next month, thereby increasing the fleet to eleven ships, and employing 600 additional men.

British Embassy's Accommodation.—The completion of the contract for the new building to house the British Embassy in Washington yesterday was announced by the contractor, who has purchased the present structures. The sale price for the old building was declared to be half-a-million dollars, and the new building will cost the same amount. The present Embassy building was constructed in 1873.

Bargain Sale Scene.—There was a remarkable scene at a drapery bargain sale at Walham Green (London) yesterday. The sale attracted a great crowd, and when the doors were opened at 9.30 people rushed into the entrance with such force that a large plate glass window was smashed. Six women received injuries from the broken glass, and were taken in taxis to the Fulham Infirmary for treatment.

Students Hold Up Traffic.—About two hundred Universities students took part last evening in an extraordinary "freak," which held up the traffic in Oxford road, Manchester, for about a quarter of an hour. Marching in a body, they placed across the tramlines logs of wood and other obstacles, with the result that the road was entirely blocked. When the police arrived on the scene they scattered in all directions, but no arrests were made.

Suicide Through Bobbed Hair.—A verdict of suicide whilst of unsound mind was returned at an inquest at Preston yesterday on Isabel Marginson (22), a weaver, who, it was stated, drowned herself in the canal because she regretted having had her hair bobbed, and imagined that people were laughing at her. A witness stated that the fact that she had had her hair bobbed was never out of deceased's mind, but no one had been known to make fun of her.

Chesterfield Road Tragedy.—A verdict of accidental death was returned at Chesterfield yesterday at the inquest on the three children, Fred Bradley, Harold Bennett, and Albert Perkins, who were killed by a steam wagon last Wednesday. It was stated that the wagon swerved to avoid a dray, mounted the pavement, carrying away some steps, and then ran on top of the children. The jury exonerated the driver from blame, and recommended the removal of a bottleneck in the road.

Dominion Cotton Venture.—A definite advance of the cotton industry in South Africa is marked by the formation of the biggest cotton venture yet launched in that country, which, according to the commercial editor of the Star has been registered in the Transvaal. The company has acquired 75,000 acres of Portuguese territory, with a frontage of twelve miles on the Delagoa Bay line. The company's programme for the next three years includes the cultivation of 15,000 acres of cotton.

Co-operative Employés.—The result was announced yesterday of the co-operative referendum on trade union employment. The voting of the societies on the resolution submitted by the Wallsend Society to rescind all resolutions relating to compulsory membership of trade unions for Co-operative Wholesale Society employés was:—For the resolution, 1,086; against, 1,981. The trade union condition for C.W.S. employés is, therefore, maintained. A Tonbridge amendment, restricting the condition to new employés after July, was lost by 343 votes.

STOCK FREIGHTS.

NO REDUCTION ON G.N.R.

At a meeting of the Agricultural Committee of the Royal Dublin Society on Thursday last, Mr. Justice Wylie presiding, a communication was read from the Great Southern Railway Company, intimating that it had been agreed to reduce the existing freight charges on show stock to 50 per cent. over the pre-war rates. Instructions were given to thank the Company for this concession to breeders of pedigree stock. The Committee expressed disappointment at the refusal of the Great Northern Railway Company to adopt the suggestion that it should do likewise.

The Committee discussed General Brown-Clayton's notice of motion in regard to the treatment of cattle in transit, together with a communication from the Department of Agriculture, asking the Society to nominate a representative to attend a conference on the subject, to be held at the Department's office on the 13th inst. It was decided that General Brown-Clayton should be deputed to attend the conference on behalf of the Society and suggest that a committee should be appointed from the conference to consider the whole subject carefully and submit recommendations.

A communication from Mr. R. J. Kelly, K.C., on the subject of re-afforestation in Ireland was considered. It was felt that whilst the Committee was in sympathy with any movement calculated to improve the existing order of things, it was not in a position to deal with a matter which had been engaging the attention of the Department of Agriculture for so many years. The Committee, however, was of the opinion that something might be done in the way of granting premiums for forestry exhibits at the shows of the Society, and it was decided that a report on this matter should be prepared for consideration at a future meeting.

The Director reported that arrangements had been made for an attendants' room at Ballsbridge, with an attendant in charge, for the accommodation of herdsmen at the Society's shows, with lighting and heating facilities and also a supply of newspapers, writing materials, etc. Provision was also to be made for cooking and sleeping accommodation for a limited number of herdsmen. It was expected that these facilities would be in operation at the March Show and Sale. The Committee expressed appreciation and approval of the innovation.

ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY.

The Council of the Royal Dublin Society last Thursday approved the proposal of the Industries, Art and General Purposes Committee for a national scheme for the encouragement of art in Ireland. It also approved of the general progress which has been made in connection with the reconstruction work at Ballsbridge, and passed a resolution, thanking Sir Simon Maddock for his gift of a carved stone pedestal for the sun dial, recently presented to the Society by Messrs. Pilkington and Gibbs, Ltd., Preston.

The report on the Society's finances for 1924 and the budget for the coming year were considered most satisfactory, being such as would enable the Society to maintain its progressive work and make several notable additions.

Mr. E. J. Beaumont-Nesbitt, H.M.L., was unanimously elected a Life Governor, in recognition of his long and valuable services to the Society as vice-president of the agricultural section of the Council.

At a meeting of the Agricultural Committee, on the same day, Mr. Harry Franks was nominated for the vacancy caused by Mr. Beaumont-Nesbitt's resignation. The annual report was approved and referred to the Council, as also was the estimate of the receipts and expenditure for 1925.

The following resolution was passed in silence, all members standing:—

"The Committee of Agriculture desire to place on record their deep regret at the death of Mr. Edward Kennedy. Although it was only in recent years that he became actively associated with the Committee, Mr. Kennedy gave his services at a time when his long experience of horse breeding and his knowledge of blood-stock proved an invaluable asset to the development of the sales, which the Society was endeavouring to improve. The success of the late Horse Show Sales was due in no small degree to his personal energy and zeal, and his loss in this connection will be sorely felt. The Committee tender to Mrs. Kennedy their sincere condolence and heartfelt sympathy in her bereavement."

DUBLIN BULL SHOW.

MORE ENTRIES THIS YEAR.

As compared with last year there is an increase in the number of entries for the Royal Dublin Society's show and sale of pure-bred bulls and boars, to be held at Ballsbridge, Dublin, on 3rd and 4th March next. The advance occurs in the sections for shorthorns and Aberdeen-Angus, the two breeds mainly used for crossing purposes in Ireland, the first for producing dual purpose and milch cattle and the second for the production of beef.

Last year's corresponding sale realised £22,573, as against £17,484 in 1923. In this connection it may be mentioned that at the 1924 sales sixty-three dairy shorthorn bulls averaged £63 5s. 2d. Appended are the total figures for each breed, together with the average price realised in 1924:—

| | 1925. | | 1924. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Shorthorns | 301 | ... | 282 at £44 |
| Herefords | 80 | ... | 94 at £41 |
| Aberdeen-Angus | 163 | ... | 138 at £66 |
| Boars | 30 | ... | 63 at £8 |

The provinces are represented by the following entries:—

| | |
|---|---|
| Ulster | 120 |
| Munster | 63 |
| Leinster | 228 |
| Connaught | 63 |

The auction will be conducted by Messrs. Gavin Low, Ltd.

The Society's Agricultural Committee, at a meeting on Thursday last, expressed satisfaction at the increase in the number of entries and approved the programme for the show and sale. Stewards were appointed.

LONDON THEATRES.

"SOMETIME" AT THE VAUDEVILLE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LONDON, Friday.

The most interesting member of the cast of the new musical comedy, "Sometime," at the Vaudeville Theatre is Frank Tinney. My own opinion is that in laying aside his usual disguise of burnt cork, Mr. Tinney has also lost something of that comical and whimsical personality that made him so successful on the music halls. I must admit that my impression did not appear to be shared by most of the audience, who rapturously applauded everything he did.

"Sometime" is treated differently from the majority of musical comedies. Most of the heroine's adventures are shown, to use a kinematograph term, in a series of "flash-backs," while the girl tells her story of love versus ambition to admiring friends in her dressing room.

Desirée Ellinger acts daintily, sings sweetly, and is altogether delightful as the heroine. Robert Chisholm has an expressive singing voice and rendered all his songs competently. Joan Hay as a "vamp," Carlito Ackroyd as a dancer, and Frank Tinney as an irresponsible character who keeps a theatrical boarding house, work hard to make the show a success.

There is a spirit of gaiety and fun about this musical comedy which is very captivating, due, I imagine, to the admirable way in which the cast work together. Rudolf Frimb's music is reminiscent of many other Viennese scores, and is tuneful and adequate without being in any way distinctive.

On the whole, "Sometime" is a jolly entertainment, likely to appeal to present-day audiences.

"OLD HEIDELBERG" AT THE GARRICK.

This is the day of revivals. There have been three in London this week. "Old Heidelberg" recalls pleasant memories of the late George Alexander, who played with such a romantic air the part of Karl Heinrich, the Prince who had to sacrifice love for duty.

Last night Ivor Novello invested the character with considerable charm and feeling. Dorothy Batley portrayed Kathie, the innkeeper's pretty daughter, with a good deal of tender skill.

I do not think that this German play, which created such a furore twenty years ago, will appeal much to the playgoer of to-day. Modern young people will be intolerant of its heavy Teutonic sentiment, and the high spirits of the students strike one as being forced and unnatural.

RATHFRILAND MAN'S BETS.

ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO BRIBE A POSTMAN.

A fine of 5s. and costs was imposed on John McAlinden, a labourer, at Rathfriland Petty Sessions yesterday for having attempted to bribe Daniel J. Byrne, a temporary postman, to steal a date stamp from the local Post Office.

Byrne stated that McAlinden offered to pay him ten shillings a week if he would get the stamp, which he needed "for the purpose of defrauding bookmakers." The offer was refused on several occasions.

The Postmaster of Newry produced a letter which McAlinden sent to the Postmaster-General, asking, on behalf of himself and "numerous other business men," to have letters intended for England stamped, so that the hour of posting would be shown.

Mr. G. McSpadden, LL.B., who defended, said that when a resident of Rathfriland won several thousands of pounds on the double, White Bud and Sergeant Murphy, betting received an impetus in the district. Many "commissions" were sent across the water, and the backers wanted the hour of posting noted, so that no bookmaker could deny liability if they won large sums.

McAlinden said that he never asked Byrne to steal a date stamp.

The Postmaster of Rathfriland said that over a year ago McAlinden asked that "clock time" should be restored to the date stamp.

The magistrate (Mr. J. Park) said he was inclined to believe that the accused did approach Byrne to a limited extent, but he was not satisfied with the latter in not reporting the case to the P.O. at once, and he would, therefore, fine the defendant 5s. and costs only.

REDMOND ANNIVERSARY.

A largely-attended meeting of the Dublin Redmond Anniversary Committee took place at 39 Upper Sackville street, Mr. Thomas O'Donnell, Barrister-at-Law, presiding.

Mr. E. Redmond, Secretary of the Wexford Committee, wrote stating that encouraging promises of support were coming from all centres.

It was announced that special trains will run from Dublin, Cork and Navan to Wexford on Sunday, the 8th of March.

The Chairman said that the proposal to celebrate the anniversary had been taken up with great enthusiasm throughout the country. He was satisfied that Dublin would be represented by thousands. With the help of their young men they would try to rescue their country from "the horrid mess" in which it had been during the past five or six years.

BISHOP AND DANCE HALL REVELS.

The Roman Catholic Bishop of Limerick, in the course of a letter to the Rev. J. Carroll, Administrator of St. Michael's, Limerick, concerning what he describes as abuses in connection with certain places of entertainment, says that it is difficult to believe that some of the incidents at a dance hall of which report speaks really happened.

They recall, Dr. Keane says, rather the revels of Pagan Bacchantes than the proceedings of the members of a Christian community. "Though, therefore, slow to give credence to current reports, I cannot but feel there is increasing danger of the utter demoralisation of some of our people, requiring still greater efforts to meet it."

The bishop adds that he thinks the time has come to invoke the aid of the law, and that he is sure that the Courts will do all that they can, and he has the assurance of the Mayor that the Corporation will be unanimous in making the fullest use of their powers. Public opinion, he says, must express itself in no uncertain fashion.

Stocks opened firm, and high-priced shares advanced 3 to 10 points, despite the subsidence in the demand for Railroads and Oils, but all re-acted sharply, owing to the stiffer money rates and a violent decline in grain prices. ### NEW YORK COTTON.

COTTON opened steady, 1 point to 4 points dearer. Improvement was shown early under the influence of firm cable advices, higher Southern spot markets, absence of rain in Texas and buying by foreign houses, but liquidation followed on a forecast of more favourable weather. The market partially rallied owing to the bullish visible supply figures and buying by spot houses, but re-declined under bear pressure and the weakness in grain. The closing was steady, although 7 to 13 points down. Spot quiet at 10 points fall. New Orleans spot 10 points lower.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Friday.

WHEAT opened firm, 1⅛ to [illegible] higher. Rumours of export business, firmer Liverpool cables and covering of shorts stimulated the market early, then a reaction set in due to expected bearish weekly world's shipments, larger North-West receipts, unloading by bulls, commission house selling, liquidation and stop loss orders. Partial rallies took place later owing to a demand from millers and covering of shorts, but the market closed barely steady at 6⅛c. to 8½c. fall. Spot easy.

MAIZE opened irregular, ⅛c. up to ⅛c. down. Small country offerings and covering by shorts caused some early advances, but prices eased off afterwards owing to increasing stocks, the decline in wheat and liquidation. ## VITAMINS AND NUTRITION.

SUNLIGHT'S EFFECT IN CHILDREN'S DISEASES.

On the subject of "Vitamins and Nutrition," Dr. William Fearon, lecturing at the Royal College of Surgeons, under the auspices of the Royal Dublin Society, yesterday, declared that the exclusive use over a long period of food products from which vitamins had been removed by manufacturing processes would lead to a condition of ill-health unless the diet was supplemented by materials rich in vitamins.

At the present time, he said, four vitamins were recognised, the first, the vitamin necessary for growth, being found especially in milk fat and cod-liver oil. The part played by sunlight in the syntheses or liberation of the antineuritic vitamin was now attracting much attention, and might serve to explain some of the beneficial effects of sunlight, particularly in children's diseases.

ATHLONE SAW MILLS FIRE.

The Shannon Saw Mills, Athlone, were seriously damaged by fire early yesterday morning. The building is situated on the banks of the Shannon, on the Roscommon side of the town. The military fire brigade and a number of soldiers from Custume Barracks attended, but the fire had made considerable headway, and all the machinery, with a large quantity of timber, was destroyed. The cause of the outbreak is unknown. The damage, which is estimated at between £18,000 and £20,000, is partially covered by insurance.

CLARE ABDUCTION CHARGE.

STORY OF YOUTHFUL COUPLE'S MARRIAGE.

A case was heard at Broadford (Co. Clare) District Court on Thursday, when a young labourer was charged with an offence, which, in the words of the prosecution, virtually amounted to the abduction of his own wife. The accused was John Kelleher, of Broadford, and the girl was Winifred O'Connell, of Ardakeagh (now Mrs. Kelleher).

The evidence showed that, on 3rd November last, Winifred O'Connell disappeared from her parents' home. It was assumed that she had gone to a sister's house at Glenwood, near Sixmilebridge, but on 6th November the parents ascertained that John Kelleher had informed Thomas Murnane, of Broadford, that the girl was in his possession and would be handed over to Murnane at Doon Cross the same night. Murnane went to the place appointed, but, although he waited there until 2 a.m., neither Kelleher nor the girl arrived. The girl's mother then swore an information against Kelleher, whom she accused of having taken the girl away. As the girl was only 17 years of age a warrant was issued for Kelleher's arrest.

Inquiries were set on foot, but they appear to have been fruitless until Kelleher and the girl returned to Broadford, having been married in Limerick on the 19th November. Kelleher was then arrested on the charge lodged by the mother, but was released on bail pending the holding of the District Court.

Mr. Blood-Smyth, solicitor, now appeared for Kelleher, and asked that informations be refused as the parties were married and the families reconciled. He submitted that there had been no offence against the Statute, under the circumstances. The pair had simply eloped, and a man could not be charged with the abduction of his own wife.

Superintendent Mooney, Civic Guards, said that the girl had been married without the consent of her parents. She had been taken away from her home on 3rd November, and had not been married until a fortnight later, during which time Kelleher had been evading arrest.

The Justice said that he was doubtful if the marriage was in order, as the girl had not obtained the consent of her parents. It would not be legal in England without such consent where the girl was under 18 years of age.

Mr. Blood-Smyth submitted that the case was a mere elopement, and it would be a pity now to have it re-opened. The fact that they went to Limerick and got married as soon as they could, showed that there was no unlawful intent.

Superintendent Mooney suggested that the marriage simply took place to evade the law.

The Justice said that he would have to inquire into the position both as regarded the Canon Law and the ordinary legal aspect. The girl was married without her parents' consent, and then there was the interval of a fortnight between the date of her leaving home and the date of the marriage. If he was satisfied that the parties were properly married, there would be an end of the case. Meantime the case would be adjourned to the next District Court in March, the defendant being allowed out on his own bail.

Several charges of assault arising out of the elopement were also adjourned.

DUBLIN METHODIST COUNCIL.

The February meeting of the Dublin Methodist Council was held in the Centenary Church parlour last Thursday, when there was a representative attendance of members. The chair was taken by the Rev. J. M. Alley, President. A number of messages of sympathy were sent to members of the Council and their families who had suffered bereavement since the Council's last meeting. The Council Year Book for 1925 was available, and contains full information as to the names and addresses of all Church officials, choir members and Sunday school teachers in the Methodist churches of Dublin and townships. The main subject for discussion was "The Housing Problem in Dublin and how the Church may aid in its Solution." Mr. W. M. Forsyth from his experience in connection with the Pembroke housing schemes, gave some very useful information about the difficulties of the housing problem, and offered suggestions as to how the Dublin Methodist churches might assist in solving what was admitted on all hands to be by far the most urgent social problem of our city. It was decided to submit the matter to the Executive Committee for consideration, with power to co-opt persons possessing special knowledge of the subject, a report to be submitted to the next meeting of the Council.

HOBBS CASE.

APPLICATION AGAINST A NEWSPAPER.

TRIAL POSTPONED.

Arising out of the comments of Sir Ernest Wild, K.C., Recorder, at the Old Bailey, London, in charging the Grand Jury in the case of William Cooper Hobbs, a Divisional Court in the King's Bench Division, composed of Justices Salter and Fraser, granted a rule nisi, returnable on Tuesday next, against the editor and publishers of the Evening News (London), and the Associated Newspapers, Ltd., calling upon them to show cause why they should not be committed for contempt of Court in respect of a report published last Tuesday.

Mr. St. John Hutchinson, who is defending Hobbs, made the application for a rule. Recalling the recent action against the Midland Bank, he said that the jury found that Mr. and Mrs. Robinson did not take part in the conspiracy. Lord Darling and counsel on both sides thought it their duty to make very severe comments on Hobbs, although it was quite clear that criminal proceedings would take place. In spite of this, Mr. Hobbs was given no opportunity of explaining his position. He was simply put into the box to produce certain documents. After his arrest he was not admitted to bail, and, therefore, had some difficulty in putting forward a full defence. When committed for trial he made a statement denying his guilt.

At the Central Criminal Court, said counsel, it appeared, according to the newspapers, that the Recorder, in charging the Grand Jury, made some severe comments, based simply and solely upon the depositions before him. Hobbs, of course, was not either present or represented. Therefore, it was purely an ex parte statement.

What was complained of was a statement which he (Mr. Hutchinson) did not think anyone would deny—he said it with a full sense of responsibility—made it impossible that the trial of Hobbs should take place fairly and without prejudice—so much so, that to all who happened to know the care with which the Recorder carried out his duties, it seemed quite incomprehensible that this could be an accurate report of the proceedings. It was headed, in heavy type: "Recorder and Mrs. Robinson. Old Bailey Comment on Pence and Virtue. Hobbs's Part. 'No doubt Party to a Monumental Fraud.'"

Then came in smaller type:—

"There can be no doubt, I should say, that Hobbs was a party to a gigantic fraud. It was as monumental and as impudent a fraud as, perhaps, has ever been perpetrated in the course of our criminal history."

These words were used by the Recorder, Sir Ernest Wild, in his charge to the grand jury at the Old Bailey. He was referring to William Cooper Hobbs, who was charged with conspiring to defraud Sir Hari Singh, conspiring to steal valuable securities from him, and also with receiving two banker's cheques for £150,000, knowing them to have been stolen.

Then the Recorder, according to the Evening News, said:—

"£150.000 or £300,000 may appear to you to have been a large sum for selling the virtue of Mrs. Robinson. Probably if it were put into farthings it would more approximately represent the value of that virtue. But that has nothing to do with us. The point is, the Rajah, for reasons into which we need not enter, was very anxious to avoid publicity. These clever scoundrels knew that this was so, and played upon it, and thereby got this enormous amount of money. When Mr. Robinson found he had been treated in this way, he brought an action against the Midland Bank—an impudent action. That action was, as it deserved to be, unsuccessful."

PROCEEDINGS INCOMPLETE.

As to that action, said Mr. Hutchinson, he understood that the proceedings were still going on, as there was to be an appeal. The petty jury before whom Hobbs would be tried would naturally be interested in what the Recorder said about the trial. Looking at their evening paper, they found, in heavy, leaded type, that the man they were going to try had been said already, by a judge of the eminence of the Recorder of London, without any opportunity of putting a defence forward, to have been, no doubt, a party to a monumental fraud.

It was impossible to believe that the judge could have said those words, and his (Mr. Hutchinson's) suggestion was that the newspaper should be called upon to prove that its report was accurate.

The effect was that if it was stated of the report that it had been said by the Recorder of London against a man on his trial, whatever the result, the man could not have what every man was entitled to—namely, a fair and proper trial from his fellow-countrymen. It must make his trial impossible to be carried out in the way that they hoped criminal trials would be carried out—namely, that the jury should have fair minds. The man had been the victim, from the beginning, of outside comments, made by all sorts of people, while his mouth had been sealed, and it was particularly necessary that nothing should be said or read by any of those who were going to take part in the proceedings when he was brought to his trial that would prejudice them against him.

There were other points that he could raise, said counsel, even if it were proved that that was an accurate report of what the judge said, one being whether the proceedings of the Grand Jury were proceedings in an open Court, and, secondly, whether it was proper for a journal to take a part of the remarks said during the proceedings, and put it in leaded type, away from the context, to attract the eye, and to sell the journal, by emphasising the sensational part of the proceedings.

Mr. Justice Salter said that they were clearly of the opinion that there must be a rule. The less said about the matter now the better.

TRIAL POSTPONED.

During the evening Mr. St. John Hutchinson, at the Old Bailey, informed Mr. Justice Acton that the health of Sir Edward Marshall Hall, leading counsel for William Cooper Hobbs, made it impossible for him to attend the present sittings. Counsel asked that the trial should be adjourned until next Sessions.

The prosecution raised no objection.

Mr. Hutchinson said that his client approved. He was anxious for the case to come on as soon as possible.

Hobbs was brought into the dock, and the judge granted the application, as well as requests by Hobbs's counsel for accused to see his brother and his brother's wife, and be taken back to prison in a cab.

CORK BUSINESS MEN AND STABILITY.

IMPORTANCE OF ECONOMIC INTERESTS.

At the weekly meeting of the Cork Progressive Association Executive Committee, Mr. T. P. Dowdall said that within the past week or two a movement had been started in Cork the object of which was to promote stability and a return to normal conditions. That Association, representing the business people of Cork, was deeply interested in the success of the movement. Owing to the conditions which prevailed during the past few years the business of Cork had received a severe setback. The majority of the people, of all classes, was sick of politics, and it clamoured for a return to normal conditions. That Association, although non-political in character, was established to elect and maintain a stable Government and to maintain security in the country.

The economic problem at present was vastly more important than any political issue. The practical business man was daily faced with the insecurity of the situation, which was a constant check to development. Capital was disheartened and discouraged, and was not readily available for the promotion of enterprise.

An appeal had been made from many quarters for a respite, to enable those with the economic interests of the country at heart to try to bring the country back into a condition of prosperity. Such movement should have the support of all progressive people, and certainly of their Association. They hoped that the conference which was to be called by the Chairman of the Harbour Board and the Lord Mayor would be successful, and would set an example which the rest of the country might with advantage follow.

The St. Paul's Cathedral Preservation Fund has now reached a total of £226,985 6s. 10d.

ENCOUNTER AT ENNIS FAIR.

CIVIC GUARD INJURED.

The sale of cattle in the streets instead of in the Fair Green at Ennis Fair yesterday, led to an exciting encounter between members of the public and the Civic Guards. The Guards sought to force the public to use the Fair Green, but a crowd of about 200 people rushed on them with sticks. The Guards drew their batons, and blows were exchanged. Guard Patrick Erry was felled by a blow, and had to be treated in hospital. Reinforcements arrived, and two civilians—John Casey and John Griffin—were arrested; but the crowd kept possession of the streets, and the attempt to confine sales to the Fair Green had to be abandoned.

TO-MORROW'S ARMY CONCERT.

The Governor-General of the Free State and President Cosgrave have signified their intention of being present at the concert to be given to-morrow at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, by the No. 1 Band of the Army School of Music, under the direction of Colonel Fritz Brase.

As may be seen by the programme published in our advertising columns, an exceptionally interesting face of Irish and classical music has been arranged.

As the proceeds will go to charitable objects, it is hoped that a very large audience will be present to enjoy the varied items which have been so well selected to give pleasure to the music-loving Dublin public.

DISTRESS IN DUBLIN.

PROVISION OF MEALS.

We are brought into close touch with the Poor of the city, and day by day we find more families who are reduced to the verge of starvation through the present high cost of the necessaries of life. The effects of this semi-starvation are to be seen in the wasted condition of the mothers and little children. The applications for relief to one large fund have trebled within the last two years. Shops which supply food to the poor find that the chief things now purchased are tea, bread and margarine. Many instances of extreme poverty could here be quoted if space permitted.

At present, there are three large kitchens—at Lourdes House, Meath street; Sandwith street; and Blackhall place—as well as several smaller ones, at which 1d. to 4d. portions of food are provided. These kitchens supply about 2,400 meals daily; this includes meals to school children, for whom a Municipal Grant is given. The small sum of 3d. will provide a dinner of Irish stew for an adult, 1/- subscribed will give dinner to four persons, and £1 80 dinners. Yet, though the equipment of the kitchens could be utilised to supply far greater quantities of cooked food, there are numbers of hungry people and mothers of families who cannot even purchase food at these low prices through lack of means.

We, therefore, while gladly recognising the work and claims of other forms of relief for the distressed, appeal with confidence to the citizens of Dublin to come to the relief of their needy fellow-citizens, assuring them that any monies received will go in their absolute entirety to the needy poor. We will arrange for food to be supplied at the above named kitchens on the presentation of tickets which we will allocate to the various charitable societies already operating in the poorer districts of our city, or these tickets may be purchased on application by letter to Mrs. A. L. Staff, 29 South Anne street, Dublin, to whom all subscriptions and gifts of money should be sent.

PUBLICAN'S THIRD CONVICTION.

During the hearing of a case at Thomastown Court yesterday, the District Justice said that it was well that publicans should know that every conviction for a breach of the Intoxicating Liquor Act must be recorded, and that a third conviction involved the forfeiture of the licence.

Miss Edith Kelly-Lange, solo violinist, of the Royal Irish Academy of Music, Dublin, who recently played with distinction at the Kursaal, Ostend and in London, has received an engagement from a leading London gramaphone company to make a number of solo violin records. She will go to London early next month, when her engagements in the Free State have been fulfilled.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

PUBLIC HEALTH AND THE SENATE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The Council of the Veterinary Medical Association of Ireland has done a useful work in calling public attention to the provisions of the Local Government Bill, now before the Senate, and their attitude towards the veterinary profession. The Senate of the Irish Free State is assumed to be the living expression of the intellectual life of the nation. Its members are drawn largely from the most educated and cultured classes in the community. There are men there distinguished in almost every walk of life—the arts, science, literature, commerce, the professions and labour. Knowing this, I was surprised beyond measure on reading the report of the discussion which took place on that part of the Local Government Act relating to public health, and the Senate's attitude towards the veterinary profession in its relations to it.

The whole tone of the discussion and some Senators' mental outlook towards reform would put to shame the records of a parish council. Here is a question calling aloud for reform in this country for more than half a century. The conditions under which cattle intended for human food are kept constitute an appalling and sickening scandal. The way in which meat and milk are handled before being brought to the tables of the people beggars description.

Outside a few important towns there is little inspection of dairies or dairy cattle and none at all of meat. The result is that disease is rampant in the country and tuberculosis may be seen written across the foreheads of the children who are compelled to live in the slums of large towns and rural districts. Those local and other bodies—with a few honourable exceptions—part of whose duty it was to attend to conditions of public health have shamefully and criminally neglected their duties and have done much to disgrace the administration of the law. Every municipality and other representative body in Europe has called the veterinary profession to its aid, in conjunction with the medical officer of health, to administer public health Acts. England has done the same; Scotland has done more than England, but Ireland hesitates.

Here is an opportunity—the first within living memory—of doing the right thing. It only remained for that distinguished Senator, Dr. O'Sullivan, to say that the veterinary surgeon was not the person to inspect meat or milk. We claim nothing for the veterinary profession except what has been conceded to it by every civilised community—the right to exercise within our own domain and by virtue of our scientific education our part in conserving and protecting the health of the people. The whole of our professional life has been given to the study of animals, in health and disease, destined for human food. I can assure members of the medical profession that they will suffer no loss of dignity by being associated with the veterinary profession in public health work.—Yours, etc.,

HUNTING IN IRELAND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—May I suggest that our Government legislate on Manitoba's lines, and, for example—

(1) Prohibit the killing of any fox in Ireland except by licence. Thus a licence need only be granted for a person to kill foxes in any certain district, and this district, of course, would be a non-hunting one.

(2) Prohibit any person from being in the possession of any raw fox-skin except by licence. This will cover both the trade and the killer.

These licences, however small, would help towards the Free State Treasury, and indirectly would bring thousands of pounds to our poverty-stricken islet, should the fox be allowed to multiply. Half-an-hour's reading of the Manitoba Game Act will solve the problem, if it is followed out.—Yours, etc.,

"COOLATTIN HUNT."

ALI BABA AND THE FORTY THIEVES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Connection between the above-mentioned gentry and double income tax would appear to be sufficiently remote, but it is not so. Taking double income tax from residents in the Free State is in itself most unfair, but when it means that the English Revenue authorities keep the tax thus collected for many months, and in some cases for over a year, it is nothing short of an unwarrantable detention of public money. The unfortunate owners of the money are obliged to borrow from their banks, and in many cases to increase an already existing overdraft, in order to live and pay their way.

As to overdrafts, up to April, 1923, I have always been able to recover the tax on mine, a form for the purpose being sent me by my banker. This year, however, I am informed that the English Revenue authorities will no longer allow claims for relief on overdrafts unless the latter are kept at a bank in England or Northern Ireland. The deduction from this is obvious, as, of course, people cannot shift their banking account unless they pay the debt due to the bank. So the Government scores once again. All this is most unfair to people with small incomes. This year I sent in my claim through an income tax expert, but so far have had nothing from him but "pious aspirations." Even an expert, it seems, cannot cope with the "Forty Thieves", over the way.—Yours, etc.,

"FOX-HUNTER."

THE BOOT TAX.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—In a recent leader you refer to Mr. Blythe's address at Clontarf, in which he said that the boot tax was entirely successful. We shall see, when the boot merchants send in their income tax returns, how far this kind of success is of use to the Government or to the country. One would like to know how many factories have been, or are about to be, started to make women's and children's boots. Are any English firms coming over, with the help of the 15 per cent., to make footwear to supply boots and shoes to meet the purchasing power of the poor?

I have bought men's Irish boots at 14s. 6d. and 15s. per pair, but I want men's boots to sell at 10s. 6d., 12s. 6d., 14s. 6d. per pair. I want women's boots at 8s. 6d., 9s. 6d., 10s. 6d., 12s. 6d.; I want boys' and girls' boots at 6s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 8s. 6d. Where am I to get Irish boots at these prices? How can a man earning 30s. per week, with a family of five or six children, pay more than the prices I have stated? The men who are unemployed—how can they get boots? Yet the tax is imposed upon all classes of footwear. Hasty legislation raises the cost of living without corresponding benefits. I hope that this tax will be readjusted.—Yours, etc.,

"A SOUTHERN TRADER."

Co. Wexford, February 5th, 1925.

A LADY bought an expensive pair of shoes and after a short time ceased to use them.

Six months elapsed, and the shoes were found to be so uncomfortable, due to the leather having become hard, that they were regarded as unwearable. Recommended by a lady friend, she procured a bottle of SCIENCE CREAM. On one application the shoes were usable—after a week they were a real pleasure to wear. The lady in question wrote to say that she considered the investment of ninepence had saved a three guinea pair of shoes. Science Creams are made in four colours—Black, White, Ruby, Russet.

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

GUINNESS "INTERIM" DOUBLED. BANK STOCK BUOYANT. REDUCED DRAPERY DIVIDEND. RAILS STRONG UNDERTONE. TEXTILES ALL WEAKER.

The outstanding features on 'Change yesterday were not very numerous, but they were important, and attracted more attention than usual. We refer to the doubling of the Guinness interim dividend—i.e., 24 per cent. per annum against 12 per cent. per annum. This adjustment in the interim percentage was foreshadowed six months ago by the chairman at the annual meeting of the shareholders, when it was pointed out that the then interim dividend was only at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum, and the final dividend and bonus at rate of 40 per cent. per annum, or 26 per cent. for the year to 30th June, 1924. Bank of Ireland Stock was again a feature, with a fresh rise of 5 points. A brisk demand was current for the two leading Home Railway Ord. Stocks, and higher prices were paid or ineffectually bid. T. Lyons and Co. drapery final dividend is reduced from 10 to 7 per cent. per annum. Textiles weakened all round. Government National Loan weakened, and British Funds were irregular. Bank Stock was a buoyant feature at a further sharp advance, thus more than recovering the half-year's dividend of 150s. free of income tax paid on 1st inst. Nationals were better, but Hibernians were lower. Distillery shares eased a trifle. Guinness Ord. opened on sale, with prices easier at the earlier market, but the interim distribution was not then known. At the later market, the doubled interim being more than was generally anticipated, the price more than recovered the small initial loss, and the rise would probably have been more but for considerable profit-taking sales. After hours fresh buying orders were in the market. Marconi Ord. shares were quite firm, but without activity, and the Pref. were distinctly hard, as also were Canadian Marconis, while Radio shares were firm in a neglected market. There was a distinct change in the market for Home Railway Ord., with buyers about for the two leading stocks, and the supply seemed to dry up when a little bidding was indulged in. Dunlop Rubbers and Parent Tyres varied very slightly. Alliance Gas issues were again absorbed. Textiles weakened, but Tobaccos were little altered, though British-Americans were on offer. Irish Times were scarce and higher. Oils improved. Jute Ord. and Pref. shares were wanted, but did not quote here.

Government National 5 per cent. Sterling Loan fell ⅛ to 94⅞.

In British Funds, War Loan 5 p.c. fell ⅛ to 101⅛ and Conversion 3½ p.c. ⅛ to 78⅛, but Victory Bonds rose ⅛ to 93⅞ ⅛.

In Banks, Bank Stock closed 5 higher at 295, after touching 296, and Nationals rose ⅛ to 20⅛.

In Breweries and Distilleries, Guinness Ord. opened ⅛ lower at 53⅞, and fell to 53⅛, but at the later market 54⅛ ⅛ was quoted, while after hours 54⅛ was paid. The Pref. closed firm at 12. Dublin Distillers Ord. eased 6d. to 44s., and the Pref. closed on offer at 90s. Distillers (Scotch) fell 3d. to 58s. 6d.

Grand Canal Pref. repeated 65s.

Marconis were very firm, and rose 3d. to 35s. 3d. x.d., and the Pref. rose 1s. to 32s. Canadians again fetched 5s. 6d.

Home Railway Ord were good. Great Southern rose ⅜ further to 35⅛ bid. The Pref. fell ½ to 48½, the Guaranteed ⅛ to 60, with a subsequent rise to 60⅛, and the [illegible] gave way 1 to 70. Great Northern Ord. closed about 1 higher at 57 58 unofficially. Belfast and County Down 3 p.c. Debs. rose 3⅛ to 56⅞ 57⅛ nominally, but the 4½ p.c. A Pref. closed on offer at 80½.

In Trams a few Dublin United Ord. realised 6⅛, a fall of ⅛.

Parent Trust Ord. rose 1½d. to 20s., and the Deferred 4½d. to 40s., but Dunlop Rubber Ord. fell 1½d. to 11s. 6d. 11s. 7½d.

Alliance Gas repeated 7¼, and the Debs. rose 1 to 67.

Among Manufacturing Shares, Bradford Dyers fell 1s. to 82s. 6d., but later fetched 82s. 9d.; Coats 4½d. to 65s. 6d. 65s. 7½d.; Cottons 3d. to 65s. x.d., and Spinners 9d. to 58s. 6d. British-American Tobacco fell 4½d. to 108s. 7½d. Imperials were firm at 90s. 90s. 1½d., and ditto Canadians at 27s. 6d. Courtaulds fell 9d. to 70s. 10½d. 71s., and the Pref. repeated 19s. 3d. Vickers realised 10s. 9d.

In Trading, etc., Burke Pref. fell 1s. to 72s. 6d., but the Debs. rose ⅛ to 8½. Findlater Pref. again realised 11s. 1½d., and Chartered 22s. 6d. Irish Times 2nd Pref. rose 1s. to 16s. bid, and the 1st Pref. closed 71s. 73s. unofficially.

Shell Transports rose 1s. to 93s. 6d., and British Controlled Preferred 10½d. to 22s.

LONDON STOCKS QUIET

TENDENCY IRREGULAR.

The London Stock markets were very quiet yesterday, dealings being on a small scale, and an irregular tendency was shown as a consequence. A steady tone ruled in British Funds, and at the finish overnight quotations were repeated. War Loans were steady, as were Conversions, and no alteration was recorded at the close. Banks were again a much firmer market, and where alterations occurred higher prices were generally returned. Overseas gained ½, while Chartered of India finished ⅜ to the good. National Provincial issues were steady at their higher levels. A firmer tone was evident in Marconis. Radio Corporation Common and Pref. dropped ⅜ and ⅛ respectively. Breweries were better. Guinness Ord. remained at 535, but dealings took place as high as 539. Distillers Ord. moved up slightly to 2⅞, or ⅛ higher, while Allsopp £1 shares were a similar amount better. Watney Combe Defd., on the other hand, slipped back to 220½ x.d., or a point down. Steels hardened in places. Cammell Laird gained 4½d., while Vickers finished 3d. to the good. Newspaper descriptions were easier. Associated Defd. lost ¼, while Mirror Ord. and Pictorial Ord. were ⅛ and 10½d. lower respectively. Mail Debs. gained ½ to 108. Textiles were inclined to ease, but at the finish prices were not altered to any extent.

FOREIGN BONDS BETTER.

A distinctly better tone was evident in Foreign Government Stocks, and where prices were altered higher levels were returned. Among Chinese the 4½ p.c. 1898 at 82 and the 5 p.c. 1912 at 71 were both a point to the good, while Czecho Slovakia Bonds at 102 were also a point higher. French Loans remained fairly steady, despite a further drop in the rate of exchange, the Fives being 21½ and the Fours 16¼. German Threes hardened the turn to 1⅛, or ⅛ better, while the Sevens at 96⅛ showed an increase of ⅛. Greek Sevens gained ⅛ to 92⅛; Peruvians firmed up, but the only change shown at the close was that of a rise of a point in the Debs. to 103. Japanese 6 p.c. 1924 at 90½ were ½ to the good.

RAILS IDLE.

Home Rails were weaker. Great Western dropped ½, while Midlands at 100½ were also ½ lower. North-Eastern 5 p.c. Pref.-Ord. remained at 83, but the Defd.-Ord. finished ⅛ lower at 30⅛. Among Southerns, the B shares at 9⅛ were ⅛ down, while Underground Ord. lost ⅛ to 2⅞. Metropolitan, on the other hand, gained a point to 81, but the Districts lost a point to 53⅛.

Colonial and Foreign Rails were extremely quiet, and alterations were few. Buenos Ayres issues were steady and without alteration, while Canadian Pacifics were also unchanged. Central Uruguay Ord., however, shed a point to 72. Mexicans were quiet, as were Cordoba Central.

OIL SHARES IRREGULAR.

Oil Shares again commanded a good deal of attention yesterday, but, although firmness was general during the early hours, following the favourable advices from New York, an irregular tendency developed later, Continental sales being encountered of certain of the leading counters, while week-end profit-taking was also indulged in in other favourites. Following a firm start, Royal Dutch came on offer, Continental selling being reported and the price receded. Shells, in which business was again on a good scale, failed to maintain early firmness, and Anglo-Persians closed easier, after having been bid for at an advance. Burmahs remained quietly steady, and Anglo-Americans left off without alteration. Mexican Eagles, which gave way in the early hours and were, in fact, looking a dull market, came into keen demand in the afternoon and moved up smartly, the 8 p.c. Part. Prefs. and 7½ p.c. Prefs. hardening in sympathy. Some wide fluctuations were witnessed in British Controlled. A further upward movement occurred in the early hours in response to an active demand, but profit-taking sales were encountered in the afternoon and the price receded sharply, and on balance shrinkages were marked in the Common and Pref. "D" Shares. V.O.C. Holdings were comparatively quiet, but also closed lower. In other directions Lobitos were a better market, and, although finishing below the best, nevertheless registered an advance. Anglo-Egyptian "B" continued to receive attention, but, although they improved in the early hours, the shares were finally unchanged.

RUBBER SHARES QUIET.

The amount of business transacted in the Rubber share market yesterday was on an extremely small scale, while price movements at the close were irregular and lower on balance. B.N.B.R. Trust eased to 12s. 6d., or 9d. lower, while General Ceylon dropped 6d. to 43s. 6d. Kasintoe were a weaker spot, and here a decline of 1s. 4½d. was recorded, the final figure being 19s. 6½d. Membakut also gave way rather heavily and at the close they showed a fall of 1s. to 17s. Malayalam shed 3d. to 39s. 9d. c.d. Bukit Cloh, on the other hand, marked an increase of 3½d. to 4s. 0½d., Linggi put on 4½d. to 34s. 4½d. x.r., while Kepong and Kamuning were 2½d. and 1½d. higher respectively. Mooply Valley put on 6d. to 25s. 7½d., while Sungei Kapar marked an improvement of 1½d. to [illegible] 4½d. The price of rubber remained at 17d per lb.

TEA SHARES WEAK.

A weaker tone was again manifest in the Tea share market yesterday, and prices were quoted down from the outset. A few issues, however, finished the day at a slightly higher price. Assam Dooars at 47s. and Brahmapootra at 28⅛ were both 2⅛ points below the previous closing quotation, while Bargang at 60s. showed a decline of 3s. 1½d. on the day's business. Amalgamated Estates eased to 39⅛, or ⅜ down. Consolidated Tea and Lands fell away to 34⅛ ex. share bonus, or ⅛ lower than the over-night level, while Dooars, also ex. share bonus, were 2s. 6d. down at 66s. New Sylhet at 85s. and Majuli at 78s. 9d. were exceptionally heavy, and at the finish the former showed a fall of 10s., while the latter finished 6s. 10½d. lower. Jokai and Lungla both dropped 1s. 3d., while Jorehaut finished 1s. 4½d. lower at 87s. 3d. Longai Valley slipped back to 40s. 3d., or 3s. lower, while Moabund and United Planters of Ceylon were both 1s. down. Imperials lost 1s. 9d. to 49s. 9d. Halem dwindled to 63s., or 4s. 6d. down, while Empire shed 1s. 7½d. to 81s 10½d. East India and Ceylon dropped 1s. 1½d. to 58s. 10½d. Cachar and Dooars were another heavy spot, and here a fall of 6s. 3d. was recorded, the final price being no better than 96s. 3d. Ceylon Prop. and Darjeeling were both distinctly weaker. The only increases of any note were those of 1s. 3d. in Doom Dooma to 98s. 9d., and of 1s. 1½d. in Anglo-Ceylon to 50s. 10½d.

INDUSTRIALS UNDECIDED.

Week-end influences tended to restrict business in the Miscellaneous and Industrial markets still further yesterday, and no decided tendency was displayed. Firmness characterised Land Shares, Sudans further advancing, while Banks and Insurances were well maintained. Underwriters of the recent issue of the River Plate, British and Continental Meat Co. Ord. Shares and Preferred Stock have had to take up 60 per cent. and 78 per cent. respectively. Dealings started in the Ord. on the basis of 8s. 6d. to 8s. 9d. and in the Preferred Stock at 4½ to 3½ discount. The Debs. were called 98 to 99. Guinness recovered the previous day's setback to 540. Elsewhere in Breweries, Allsopps rose ⅛ to ⅛, Cannon Prefs. ⅛ to 7, and Courage Ord. 3d. to 43s 3d. Threlfals lost ⅛ at 2⅛ and Watney Pref. 1 at 60⅛ x.d. Hotels held their ground, as did also Caterers, but among Foodstuffs Bovril Def. came on offer and dropped 1s. 3d. to 53s. Textiles were inclined to harden. American Cellulose Common continued in request and further improved to 18⅛; Celanese hardened to 9s. 3d., and the Prefs. gained the turn at 12s. 4½d. Bradford Dyers put on 6d. to 83s. In the Wireless group, Marconis strengthened to 1⅛ x.d., while the Debs. rose 1 to 105. Radio Corporations, however, gave way to 12⅛, or ½ lower on balance. Iron and Steels mostly moved to lower levels where changed. Dunlops eased to 11s. 9d and Borax Def. to 39s. 9d. James Finlays further weakened to 70s. 7½d. Nobel Def. were wanted and rose to 11s. 3d., and Harrisons and Crosfields put on ⅛ to 1⅛. News Shares continued off colour. The feature among Tobaccos was the buoyancy of United South issues on bonus talk, the Ord. closing 2s. 6d. to the good at 89s., while the Def. put on 2s. to 88s. Otherwise prices showed a drooping tendency.

THE MONEY MARKET.

TREASURY BILL TENDERS.

EASY LOAN CONDITIONS.

Tenders for £30,000,000 Treasury bonds and Treasury bills were received at the Bank of England yesterday, the result being much about the same as last week. No bonds were sold, and tenders for bills dated Tuesday next at £99 2s. 1d. and above receive in full. Bills dated Monday and Wednesday to Saturday at £99 1s. 10d. got about 66 p.c., above in full. This points to an average rate of about 3⅛ p.c. Conditions remained very easy in Lombard street, despite the payment of the last instalment on the Conversion Loan to-day. Evidently funds have been held back for this purpose, as the Bank return revealed an abundance of floating credit. Loans over the night were freely offered at 2⅛ p.c. and under, weekly fixtures and day-to-day renewals being also continued at 2⅛ p.c. The discount market was slightly easier in tone, in sympathy with money, although rates were quoted nominally unchanged. Fine three months' bills were 3⅛ p.c. buyers, and the "hot" Treasuries were round about 3⅛ p.c.

Gold was 1d. per oz. higher at 87s. 2d. Silver declined ⅛d. per oz. to 32⅛d. for spot and 32d. for forward delivery.

The tendency of the Foreign Exchange yesterday remained dull, business being quiet. Sterling further eased to 4.78-4.78⅛ dollars, and French and Belgian francs were again weaker at 88.80-88.90 and 93.15-93.25 respectively. In the Eastern market, rupees were the turn harder at 1s. 6d.-1s. 6⅛d., and Japanese yen strengthened with the dollar to 1s. 7⅛d.-1s. 7½d. China rates were without alteration. ## LONDON MINING MARKET STEADY.

SMART RISE IN VAN RYNS.

There was not a great deal of business passing in the Stock Exchange yesterday, and a feeling of uncertainty prevailed almost all round. In the Mining Market Kaffirs had a rather heavy appearance, the Cape being inclined to sell some of its specialities. Central Mining, City Deep, Rand Mines, Crown Mines and other representative counters were fractionally easier, but Van Ryn were a prominent exception, good buying being induced by the very satisfactory nature of the latest developments in the newly-acquired property to the north of the original claims. The shares jumped up smartly, and West Springs were also a strong spot, on a wider appreciation of the possibilities now that the two additional tube mills are probably in commission, thus bringing the capacity of the plant up to 50,000 tons monthly; also the past month's profit was favourably commented upon. The Rhodesian department took its cue from its neighbour, and Chartered, after modest fluctuations, closed a trifle on the wrong side. Cam and Motor, Rezende, Globes, Selukwe and one or two others were also on offer, but a good demand existed for Bwana Mkubwa, and the price moved up, the options being also picked up round about 2s. 6d. Tanks and Zams kept very firm, and Victoria Falls Ord. responded to a quiet demand. Diamonds opened firm, but later Paris offered De Beers, and as buyers were scarce, the price receded. Jagersfontein were also on the down grade. The price of tin dropped £1 10s. to £262 2s. 6d. per ton, but the Eastern descriptions showed a very firm front. In the Copper section, Rio Tinto lost part of their recent rise, some offering from Paris and profit-taking being responsible. In the Miscellaneous section, Burmahs recovered. An important cablegram was received, indicating the steps taken to localise the fire in the mine. From the nature of the communication it was thought that the matter is serious, but the management has made plans to ensure continuous supervision, as well as maimum output from decreased stoping area now available. San Francisco came into demand and moved up. Closing prices:—

THE GOLD STANDARD.

An important statement on the question of a return to the gold standard, and its possible effects on trade, was made by Mr. J. Beaumont Pease, Chairman of Lloyd's Bank, which was read at yesterday's meeting of the bank by the Deputy Chairman, Sir Austin E. Harris. Mr. Beaumont Pease was absent owing to illness. "Gold," he said, "was almost universally recognised as the only practical international measure of values, and the only real problem for us was the precise date when we could safely re-establish a free market in gold. There were indications that a bold policy would not be lacking in success."

YESTERDAY'S CASES IN THE COURTS.

TRANSACTIONS AT RACES.

FARMER AND THE GAMING ACT.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE SULLIVAN.)

John Murphy, accountant, 7 Castle avenue, Malahide, sued Patrick O'Shee, a farmer, of Newtown, Carrick-on-Suir, Co. Tipperary, for the recovery of £8, alleged to be due for money paid and expended by the plaintiff for the use of, and at the request of, the defendant, and for work done and services rendered by the plaintiff, and for money due by defendant on foot of a settled and stated account. The defendant pleaded that no money was ever paid or expended by the plaintiff for his use; that he never requested the plaintiff to pay money for his use; that no work was done or service rendered by the plaintiff for him; that no account was ever stated or settled between them. He also denied that he was indebted to plaintiff, and as a further defence he relied on the Gaming Act.

Mr. F. Sherry (instructed by Mr. Michael Hearty), for the plaintiff, said that in June, 1921, Mr. O'Shee was introduced to the plaintiff, who was a well-known Irish sportsman. The meeting took place at the Limerick Junction racecourse, and there were transactions between them to the amount of £5. There were subsequent transactions at Tramore, and the entire sum at the time due by defendant amounted to £28. Subsequent to August, 1921, Mr. O'Shee sent a cheque for £20 an account of the debt of £28, leaving £8 still due. Counsel remarked that, if his lordship found that the money was for bets, the Gaming Act would apply, and the time of the Court would be saved without calling any evidence. If counsel on the other side, however, wished to cross-examine the plaintiff he could do so.

Mr. Louis O'Doherty (instructed by Messrs. J. J. O'Shee and Co.), for the defendant, said that his lordship would have a shrewd idea why the matter was brought into court. The defendant was a member of a respectable Carrick-on-Suir family, and was a farmer with two hundred acres, and this was the first time that he had ever appeared in court as a defendant. He was now brought to answer a "bookie's" writ for £8. The action, counsel submitted, was vexatious, frivolous, and an abuse of the process of law, and was also a contempt of his lordship. The defendant was brought to face this, and had to face publicity. They, however, courted publicity.

Mr. Justice Sullivan—Your client pleaded the Gaming Act?

Mr. O'Doherty said that he did, among other matters. He had owed certain moneys, but paid them in full, and he was now sued for £8. He had used every means in his power, and only pleaded the Gaming Act as a last resource.

Mr. Justice Sullivan said that, in consequence of the plea of the Gaming Act, he must dismiss the action.

CATERER BANKRUPT.

FAILURE IN ARMY CANTEENS.

In the Bankruptcy Court, Dublin Castle, yesterday, before Mr. Justice O'Shaughnessy, Andrew Dunne, bankrupt, was examined by Mr. Blood, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Thompson and Edwards), on behalf of the Official Assignee, as to his affairs. The bankrupt said that he resided at 10 Burgh quay, Dublin, and that he was canteen caterer to the National Army. He began that business about October, 1922. Asked how he got the job, the bankrupt said that he had been connected with the National movement for fourteen or fifteen years, and some of his friends in the Army told him that if he applied for the job they would support him. He opened the first canteen at Maryborough in 1923, and he lost so much money that he had to give it up. Owing to demobilisations there was not enough of business to make it pay. He bought the goods that he had to sell, and was responsible for the price to the merchants. The profit was limited to a certain scale by the authorities, and there was a rebate to be paid to the Army authorities on the whole takings, with the result that there was very little left for him. He also ran the canteens at Kilkenny and Templemore. He made money at Kilkenny, but he lost the contract there to a lower tenderer. His next job was at Templemore, and that, too, had a bad result for him. He had made a claim against the Quartermaster-General, Dublin, amounting to £526, in respect of empties—bottles and cases—but that claim had not yet been investigated by the authorities. He was responsible to merchants—Findlaters and Betts—for those empties, but the Army authorities were responsible to him.

Mr. Blood—What became of these empties? They were given to other merchants or lost in the barracks.

The bankrupt undertook to give the Official Assignee every possible assistance in investigating his affairs.

SLIGO MERCHANTS' MESSENGER.

ALLEGED BESETTING OF PREMISES.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH.)

Judgment was delivered in favour of the defendants in the case of Nelson v. O'Brien, in which an application was made on behalf of the plaintiffs for an injunction restraining the defendants, pending the hearing of the action, from besetting the business premises of the plaintiffs in Castle street, Sligo, and from interfering with the plaintiffs in their business.

The application had been made on behalf of James John Nelson and C. Nelson, carrying on business as Francis Wilson and Sons, jewellers and general merchants, Castle street, Sligo, for an interim injunction restraining James O'Brien, described as chief official in Sligo of the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union; Bernard Sweeney, messenger, and Denis Wynne, general serving man, from unlawfully besetting the plaintiffs' business premises and interfering with them in their business.

In his judgment, Mr. Justice Meredith stated that the relief sought, pending the hearing of the action, was co-extensive with that sought in the action itself. The issues were also identical—namely, whether or not there had been a "trade dispute" within the meaning of Section 5 (3) of the Trades Disputes Act, and whether or not the acts complained of have been done, and are being done, in contemplation or furtherance of that dispute. The question, his lordship continued, is rather one of the exercise of conflicting rights, or alleged rights; and what has to be decided in the action is the bearing of the Trades Disputes Act on that conflict.

However, in refusing the application, with costs, he was not confined to that ground, as he was satisfied on the evidence before him prima facie that there was a trade dispute, and that the acts complained of had been done in furtherance of it.

Recalling the facts, his lordship said that Bernard Sweeney remained in the plaintiffs' employment at the disputed rate of wage till the middle of last month. The matter was then taken up by the Irish Transport and General Workers' Union, and the defendant, James O'Brien, an official of the union, called on the plaintiffs and demanded an increase. The demand not being acceded to, Bernard Sweeney left the plaintiffs' employment and went on strike, and both he and Denis Wynne, who was dismissed for sympathetic action, are now parading before the plaintiffs' premises. The plaintiffs seem to have some idea that because their other employés have not gone out and joined with Bernard Sweeney in doing the acts complained of the case falls outside the Act. There is, added his lordship, no justification for that theory. The same applies to their theory that the fact that none of the defendants are any mark for damages affords some reason why the application should be granted. Of course, messenger boys at 15s. a week are not likely to be very good marks for damages; but that is not their fault, and does not affect the protection given them by the Act. The union is doing all it can to make them better marks in the future. I have only to add that in deciding that there is a trade dispute I am not to be taken as expressing any opinion on the merits of the dispute itself one way or the other; but I do think it a matter of extreme regret, especially at a time when there is so much unemployment, and when a feeling of give-and-take is in the interest of all concerned, that the dispute has not been settled by amicable negotiation, and I hope that a further effort will be made.

The application was refused with costs.

Mr. Leonard, K.C., and Mr. McCarthy (instructed by Messrs. Fenton and Lyons) appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. M. Maguire (instructed by Messrs. James O'Connor and Co.) for the defendants.

COMMISSION AGENT'S CLAIM.

HORSE OWNER'S PLEA.

Robert J. Ryan, commission agent, of 18 Fleet street, Dublin, sued Joseph Whelan, horse owner, of Stand House, the Curragh, Co. Kildare, to recover £95, alleged to be due for commissions executed for and on behalf of the defendant and at his request, and on an account stated and settled.

The plaintiff stated (on affidavit) that he had made several applications for payment of the sum due, and the defendant promised to pay it, but he had failed to keep his promise.

The defendant pleaded the Gaming Act, and in an affidavit handed in on his behalf denied that any money was due by him to the plaintiff for commissions executed by the plaintiff on his behalf. The moneys claimed in the action were in respect of bets made by him with the plaintiff, or betting commissions executed by the plaintiff, or for moneys paid by the plaintiff in respect of bets—all of which agreements or contracts, he (defendant) was advised and believed, were null and void under the Statute 8 and 9 Vict., c. 109.

Mr. Justice Meredith dismissed the action, with costs.

Mr. D. McMenamin (instructed by Mr. Patrick F. O'Reilly) appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Lennon (instructed by Mr. William Murphy) for the defendant.

CASTLEREA FIRM'S DEBENTURES.

CLAIM BY A BANK.

The case of the Munster and Leinster Bank, Ltd., v. John Fitzgibbon and Sons, Ltd., was heard.

The action was brought by the plaintiffs against the defendants, a drapery company carrying on business in Main street, Castlerea, Co. Roscommon, claiming a declaration that the series of 140 debentures of £100 each, all dated 4th of May, 1921, are well charged on the property and assets of the defendant company, including the leaseholds, and asking for an inquiry whether any other debentures of the company have been issued; an inquiry as to what property is comprised in the plaintiffs' debenture charge, and an account of what is due for principal and interest.

There was no appearance on behalf of the defendants.

Mr. Herbert Wilson, K.C., who, with Mr. H. Vaughan Wilson (instructed by Messrs. Maxwell, Weldon and Co.), appeared for the plaintiffs, stated that Mr. Vincent Crowley, accountant, had been appointed receiver over the property charged with the debentures, and at the time of the commencement of the action there was in his hands, or the hands of his solicitors, upwards of £10,000 realised from the undertaking and property of the company, applicable to his costs and the reduction of the moneys due to the plaintiffs on foot of the debentures, for principal, interest and costs.

In their defence, the defendants stated they did not admit the allegations contained in the statement of claim with respect to the company making default after demand for payment had been made, and averred that the plaintiffs' claim was excessive and included a sum of £1,000 paid by way of premiums on policies of insurance against riot and civil commotion, for which the defendant company was not liable.

Mr. Justice Meredith made all the declarations claimed and directed the inquiries sought.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

FLAT ROBBERY.

(BEFORE MR. COOPER.)

Sentence of six weeks' imprisonment was passed on Patrick Dowse, no fixed abode, who was charged with stealing a marble statuette, valued at £2, and a pair of lady's shoes, valued at £2 10s., the property of Miss Pilkington, 67 Stephen's Green, in September last.

EXCESSIVE SPEED.

Fines for excessive speed were imposed on motorists, as follow :—Denis Callaghan, North Circular road (28 miles an hour), £4; Robert Adamson, The Farm, Castleknock (25 miles), £2 10s.; Innis E. Gibson, Belgrave road, Rathmines (23 miles), £2. George Gorman, Capel street, and John Gorman, who drove heavy motor cars at a speed of 15 miles an hour, were each fined 10s.

THEFTS FROM MOTOR CARS.

John Reilly, Camden place, was further remanded on a charge of stealing two overcoats, each valued at £3 10s., from motor cars during the last three weeks.

DUBLIN CIRCUIT COURT.

AWARD FOR INJURIES.

(BEFORE JUDGE DROMGOOLE.)

Timothy Loughnane, a butler, employed by Mrs. Oliver, Greenfield, Stillorgan road, Dublin, was awarded £70 damages for personal injuries caused by William Doheny, 4 Great Denmark street, Dublin. The plaintiff's case was that he was cycling along the Stillorgan road at 9 o'clock at night, when he was overtaken by a motor car, driven negligently by the defendant, and knocked down. The defence was that the plaintiff was riding a bicycle which had no light, and, turning into Stillorgan road off Greenfield avenue, went in front of the defendant's motor car.

Dr. Delany stated that, in his opinion, the plaintiff suffered no permanent injury.

THE LIQUOR TAXES.

MUNSTER LICENSED TRADERS' ACTION.

A meeting of representatives of the licensed trade in Munster was held at Limerick Junction, Mr. Madden in the chair. It passed a resolution calling on all licensed traders' associations in Ireland to unite in one body to defend the interests of the trade, especially in regard to the Free State Government's legislation.

It was decided to send a deputation to the Minister for Finance to ask for a 60 per cent. reduction in taxes on liquor.

PRODUCE AND FOOD.

CATTLE.

Best bullocks and heifers made 10d. to an extreme of 10½d., secondary sorts 9½d. to 9¾d., cows and bulls 6½d. to 8½d. The sheep and lamb trade was firmer owing to shorter supplies, the tendency of values being firmer; sheep 10d. to 1/3, lambs 1/3 to 1/6 per lb., sinking the offal.

GRAIN.

LIVERPOOL. — WHEAT—The heavy decline in America and the Argentine had already been partly discounted here, while past week's shipments from latter turned out less than the forecast. Forward deliveries of wheat here showed a considerable decline at the outset, but rapidly improved on good demand, partly from shorts to cover, then fluctuated frequently, according to the offerings, and, though finishing under best, showed a fair advance on last night, afternoon cables having little effect. C.i.f. parcels No. 3 Manitoba February sold at 72/9 to 72/10½, No. 1 Duluth February 71/3, and choice white Karachi May-June 63/9 per qr. C.i.f. parcels maize dull and easier; River Plate January-February quoted 47/3, February-March 47/6, May-June 42/6 per qr. Wheat on the spot quiet, and considerably under Tuesday's rates. LIVERPOOL.—Irish and Danish BACON is very sparingly offered, and prices were more or less nominal; Canadian Wiltshires firmly held at late rates. The market for American bacon here present no new feature, the demand being again generally limited and holders easy to approach in view of the continued liberal arrivals, but no quotable change is made in values of any description. DUBLIN EGG AND BUTTER.—Both supply and demand for Danish seems to be much curtailed owing to the continued high prices ruling for this article, viz., 1/11½ to 2/- per lb., and tending higher. Popular demand centres around Colonial butters, particularly best Australians at 1/5½ to 1/5¾ per lb., while some first-class brands of Australian are selling at 1/5½ per lb., and offer good value for the money. Finest New Zealand creams are moving well at 1/6½ to 1/6¾ per lb. Only a limited quantity of Irish butter offering, which is of poor quality and meets a slow demand at 1/3 per lb. Yesterday's quotations for eggs take a wide range and are more or less nominal. LIVERPOOL COTTON.—American — Following the easier overnight advices from New York, values here opened about 7 to 8 points lower, and although trade support kept the market steady during the morning, business generally was only on a small scale, and the midday prices were without material change from the opening. In the afternoon, after a slight spell of inactivity, the market rallied on better New York cables, which induced shorts to cover. A steady tone ruled at the close, with near months finally 1 point higher, while other crop months were 1 to 2 points and new crop months 1 point lower on the day. Egyptian continued very firm and prices again advanced in the absence of offerings. This season's crop months closed 50 to 35 points and new season's months 40 to 45 points up on the day. Spot American quiet and quotations are 6 points lower. Egyptian quiet. Quotations of sakellarides are 35 points higher. East Indian is unchanged. Brazilian quotations are 6 points lower.

MANCHESTER TRADE.—Nothing encouraging can be gathered from enquiries on 'Change and in warehouses yesterday morning. Cloth offers pending cover fairly wide field, but quality is too high, frequently hopeless. India operations consist of small miscellaneous lines. Moderate China enquiry results in nothing of striking importance. Minor outlets give fair support. Retail progress reported in both Oldham and Bolton yarns.

STORE CATTLE SALES.

MESSRS. GAVIN LOW, LTD.

The sale on Thursday last was comprised of a high percentage of very nice quality cattle, which, with a fine attendance of home and cross-Channel buyers, met a lively trade. Heifers were more numerous than usual, and made the remarkably good average prices of £21 10/- (52/6), £18 15/- (52/-), £15 15/- (52/-), etc. A.A. crosses again topped the sale with 5[illegible] per cwt.; £18 10/- (54/-), £16 (56/-), £15 7/6 (50/-), £14 10/- (47/-), £13 12/6 (50/-); pollies £18 5/- (44/-), £24 (42/-), £17 12/6 (49/-), £14 15/- (49/-); horned bullocks £20 5/- (48/-), £20 (46/-), £17 5/- (46/-), £14 (42/-).

MESSRS. GANLY, SONS, AND CO.

The number of store cattle offered on Thursday was larger than last week, but there were fewer lots of aged cattle. There was a large attendance of both home and cross-Channel buyers, and good forward conditioned cattle were easier sold, and all changed hands at higher prices. Young cattle met with more competition. The prices current for good aged cattle were from 44/- to 50/- per cwt. Aberdeen-Angus crosses 53/- per cwt. One choice pen of shorthorn heifers made £30 15/-, and equalled 55/- per cwt.

Try as you may, you cannot do better. Don't delay your order.

COOKED VERSUS UNCOOKED ANIMAL FOOD.

BY AGRICULTURIST.

Recent experiments go to prove that meals fed dry give best results. But when raw dry meal is fed against cooked dry "Clarendo" the balance is altogether in favour of "Clarendo." Can it be wondered at when it is known that raw meals and cake take so much longer in the stomach before they are ready for digestion and absorption? The animal, as it were, had to "boil" the meal in its own stomach before it can be acted on by the gastric juices. The amount of energy expended in this process can be measured in meal—that is to say, it takes a little more raw meal to be fed than "Clarendo" to get equal results in beef, mutton, bacon, or milk. In other words, it takes one pound of raw meal to "boil" nine pounds of raw meal in the stomach; therefore, nine pounds of "Clarendo" is equal to ten pounds of raw meal as a food for animals.

But the question of time comes in also, and that is most important of all, for we are living in a time when speed is the essence of success in pig feeding, in baby beef, and calf feeding, and in milk production. What is wanted is a food that puts on beef or makes milk with the minimum expenditure of energy by the digestive organs, and "Clarendo" is the only food that fills the bill.—(Advt.)

TOWN OF DUNDALK. DUNDALK DEMESNE BRICKWORKS.

HIGHLY ATTRACTIVE AND IMPORTANT SALE of well situate property in Dundalk Demesne. TO BE SOLD BY PRIVATE TREATY.

THE UNDERSIGNED has received instructions from the Owners to accept Private Offers for the purchase of those very substantial premises known as the Dundalk Demesne Brickworks, now held in fee-simple, free of rent for ever. The area on which these premises stand consists of 2 acres 3 roods and 11 perches, Statute measure, or thereabouts, and adjoins the Great Northern Railway main line from Dublin to Belfast. The grounds are within a few hundred yards of Dundalk Junction, an important distributing centre. There was formerly a railway siding into the works, which could be easily reconstructed and renovated for use for importing and exporting traffic to and from the premises.

The site is admirably situated for adaption as a factory of any description, with building ground available for construction of premises capable of accommodating any industry.

The Buildings, which are in good condition and repair, comprise:—(a) Kiln or Store, about 75 feet by 40 feet, to which is attached a two-storied building, consisting of Offices and Weighbridge department; (b) Sheds, about 80 feet by 36 feet, adjoining the boiler shed and engine; (c) Caretaker's Dwelling, in first class order. The town water is also laid on to said premises.

The Vendors have recently acquired an extensive frontage to Castletown road of about 360 feet. It is situate, in conjunction with the works, just immediately outside the urban boundary. It is primarily intended and admirably adapted for building purposes.

There is not a more favourable site for industrial development in the Dundalk district than the premises now offered. The existing buildings are capable of being adapted to immediate use, while there is a considerable area of vacant ground available for building extension.

Ample facilities for inspection will be given to intending purchasers, and vacant possession can be given at any time.

BROGHILL NORTH AND RATHGOGGAN NORTH, CHARLEVILLE. MOST IMPORTANT AUCTION OF TWO HIGHLY VALUABLE FATTENING & DAIRY FARMS.

M. S. SHEEDY has been instructed by the Right Hon. the Earl of Kenmare, K.P., to SELL BY PUBLIC AUCTION, at the PAVILION, CHARLEVILLE, on SATURDAY, the 21st day of FEBRUARY, 1925, at the hour of 1 o'clock.

Firstly, all That and Those part of the lands of Broghill North, containing 144 acres 2 roods and 20 perches or thereabouts, Statute measure, situate in the Barony of Orrery and Kilmore, and County of Cork, held in fee simple under the Land Purchase Acts, subject to a terminable annuity of £137 19/4, payable to the Irish Land Commission, until an advance made by the said Commission for the purchase of said lands under the Land Purchase Acts has been repaid. P.L. Valuation £164 15/-.

Secondly, all That and Those that part of the lands of Rathgoggan North, containing 41 acres 1 rood or thereabouts, Statute measure, situate in the same Barony and County above stated, and held in like manner, subject to a terminable annuity of £28 15/4, payable to the Irish Land Commission until an advance made by them for the purchase of said lands under the Land Purchase Acts has been repaid. P. L. Valuation, £41.

The lands of Broghill North, firstly above mentioned, are well known throughout the County, and comprise some of the best fattening land in Munster. It is bounded by the public road on two sides, and is most conveniently situated, being within half a mile of the town of Charleville. The lands are all in grass, and are divided into suitable-sized fields, well fenced, watered and sheltered. This holding would be most suitable as a stud farm and also for cattle dealers. There is already on the lands good stabling, recently erected by the Vendor, and a substantial, two-storeyed, slated dwelling-house which could, at very little expense, be easily added to or enlarged upon to suit the requirements of a first-class stud farm.

This holding will be offered for sale in two lots, viz.:—

Lot 1 (being the Southern portion, adjoining the public road to Shandrum), containing 53 acres and 11 perches, or thereabouts, Statute measure, subject to an annuity of £50 15/10 to the Irish Land Commission; and

Lot 2 (being the Northern portion, adjoining the public road to Garryfine), containing 91 acres and 4 perches, or thereabouts, Statute measure, subject to an annuity of £87 3/6 to the Irish Land Commission. The boundaries will be pointed out to intending purchasers.

As to the lands of Rathgoggan North, this holding is also well known for its productive qualities. It is all in grass and is in excellent heart, and laid out in suitable-sized fields, well fenced and sheltered, and with a plentiful supply of water. It is situated about half a mile from the town of Charleville, and adjoins the public road.

The Auctioneer directs special attention to the sale of the above two most desirable holdings, as it is seldom such an opportunity is presented to the public of acquiring two really first-class farms so conveniently situated.

For further particulars and conditions of sale apply to

JAMES ADAM and SONS, at their PROPERTY SALEROOM, 17 MERRION ROW, DUBLIN, On MONDAY, the 2nd day of MARCH, 1925.
At the hour of One o'clock.

LOT 1.—HOWTH ROAD—The Plot of Land with Cottage thereon, having 650 feet frontage on the south side of the main road west of the Railway Viaduct, containing in all about 2 acres 1 rood and 37 perches, subject to a weekly tenancy of the said Cottage at 3s. per week.

This portion of the property has about 400 feet frontage with a depth of 150 to 200 feet, suitable for good class houses, and the remaining 250 feet, triangular in form, would afford sites for houses adapted to the plot.

This Lot will be Sold subject to the rent reserved by the said Lease, but indemnified against the same by Lot 2.

LOT 2.—CLONTARF MAIN ROAD (tram line), from western fence of "Annesbrook" to Strandville avenue, giving a frontage to the Strand Road of about 648 feet (excepting thereout the passage 12 feet wide to Lot 3, not for Sale, being retained by the Vendors), containing in all about 3a. 0r. 35p., bounded by Strandville Avenue on the east, on the north by Lot 3 not for Sale, and on the west by Vernon Parade.

The houses Nos. 1, 2 and 3 Annesbrook and Kingscourt House and a Cottage are erected on this Lot. No. 1 Annesbrook is vacant. The Cottage is also vacant, save the ground floor, which is let to tenant of No. 3 Annesbrook. The other houses are all let to monthly tenants at the aggregate monthly rent of £13 10s. 6d. A small piece of land with Advertising Hoarding thereon is let to David Allen and Son as yearly tenants at £20 per annum, they paying taxes.

This Lot will be Sold subject to the entire of the rent reserved by the said Lease and bound to indemnify Lot 1 against the same.

Measurements are approximate and are to be taken as more or less and tenancies to be taken subject to particulars in Conditions of Sale. The land is attractive and

VALUABLE FOR BUILDING.

The Clontarf Road frontage can be developed without much outlay, and affords good sites for Shops and Dwellings on the sea front likely to command good rents. The ground fronting the Howth Road also forms a desirable site for building.

The situation is very good, and should afford a substantial return to a purchaser with judgment and capital.
